TRUMAN LAUDS MARSHALL ON WORK AT CONFERENCE

CITY TO RENEW PLEA FOR AIR LINE SERVICE

C. of C. To Act When Delegation Goes to Washington for National Meeting.

Representatives of the Marion Chamber of Commerce will leave for Washington, D. C. tomorrow to attend the annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce next week.

The Marion delegates will include Robert T. Mason, Chamber president, Harold J. Grigsby, Har[illegible] Carroll and Robert E. White.

Mr. Grigsby will represent the Marion Chamber as its national counselor. Other representatives will be delegates to the annual meeting.

Meeting with the Marion men on Wednesday will be Secretary Louis E. Michel, who has arranged for the group to meet with Acting Chairman Oswald Ryan of the civil aeronautics board and Henry M Sullivan, division engineer of the federal works agency.

Mr Michel said he recently has received word that the board will make known its findings in the Great Lakes case, which will decide whether Marion is to receive any airline service. He stated that following a recent announcement by a group of Ohio congressmen that they will urge the civil aeronautics board to give every possible help to Ohio cities seeking airline service, the Marion Chamber felt it should reiterate its plea made before the board in January by him and J. B. Bray, chairman of the Chamber's aviation committee.

Crossing Project

The meeting arranged with Mr. Sullivan is to acquaint him with the grade crossing problems of Marion and to investigate the possibility of securing federal funds for planning elimination projects, Mr Michel said.

WEST PREPARES TILT ON INTERIOR SLASHES

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—Western members of congress, beaten off in the house looked to the senate today for restoration of part of a 45 per cent cut in interior department funds for the 1948 fiscal year.

Their hope is that the senate will put back a big chunk of the $134,000,000 chopped out of the budget estimate and that the house will split the difference in a final compromise.

Only $4,875,000 of the cuts recommended by the house appropriation committee were restored by the house itself before it passed the bill last night by a vote of 307 to 30. Passage came after the defeat, 197 to 140, of an attempt to send the measure back to the committee for increases.

Dozens of other attempts to boost the funds were battered down.

When it reached the house floor last Friday, the bill carried $156,538 513 compared with budget requests for $295,420,420—the recommended cut being 47 per cent.

As it headed for the senate after nine hours of tempestuous debate during which Democrats shouted "false economy" and Republicans assailed what they called waste of public funds, the bill carried $161,413,513.

Total increases of $5,325,000 written in on the house floor with appropriations committee approval were offset in part by a reduction of $450,000.

Lima Man Safe As Dynamite Truck Skids

By The Associated Press

DEFIANCE, O., April 26—A pick-up truck, hauling 1,500 pounds of dynamite, skidded on wet pavement and rolled end over end twice on state route 15, seven miles south of here yesterday.

Three occupants of the truck cab escaped serious injury but they told state patrolmen they were plenty scared.

Lee Baryhauer, 52, of Quincy, O., the driver, suffered minor bruises, and Wardner Shaw, 60, of Lima, and Claude Flinn, 35, of Waynesfield, were unhurt.

C and O. Passengers To Take Autos Along

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 26—Passengers on the Chesapeake and Ohio railway run between Washington, D. C. and Cincinnati were permitted today to take their automobiles along with them.

The scheme is C. and O. Board Chairman Robert R. Young's latest "public service" venture and is called the first train "auto ferry service."

SUNDAY FINAL DAY FOR CLOTHING DRIVE

Donors Asked To Take Gifts to Churches.

Sunday is the final day set for the overseas relief clothing drive sponsored by the Marion County Council of Churches. A number of churches have collections for the project, and it is hoped that an even more generous response will be made before the end of the drive which was set for the three Sundays following Easter

Rev. Eldred Johnston, presirent of the Council of Churches, has announced rules for packing the donations as follows. Each church is to pack and ship its own donations, woolen things are to be packed separately from non-woolens and shoes separate from clothing and tied together in pairs. While it is not mandatory, it will be greatly appreciated, he said, if the sum of 15 cents per pound of clothing packed will be included to take care of shipping charges. The bundles are to be sent to Church World Service, Inc., 134 North Patterson boulevard, Dayton, O.

Mother's Love Overrides Horror at Son's Death

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 26 — Police today told a story of a mother's love so strong that it overcame her horror at the mutilation death of her eight-year-old son.

The boy, Frank Sieczkowski, was decapitated when a line of freight cars was nudged by a locomotive as he crawled beneath them in search of coal for their humble home.

His brother, Raymond, 11, ran home to tell his mother, Mrs. Francis Siezkowski, 31.

The woman hurried to the scene, pausing momentarily beside the tracks to cover her eyes with horror at the sight of the boy.

Then, trancelike, she pulled the mangled body from the tracks, tenderly wrapped the sections in her coat and wordlessly carried them home.

Officers said she broke into tears only after she crossed the threshold.

2 BUCYRUS MEN HURT IN WRECK

New York Central Freight Derailed in Tunnel Near New Lexington.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 26—Two Bucyrus trainmen were injured, neither seriously, when 25 cars and the engine of a southeast bound New York Central freight train were derailed in a tunnel near New Lexington, O., yesterday afternoon.

They were Henry R. Maley, head brakeman, and Don C. Mellor, fireman. Both were returned to their homes here late yesterday. They were reported to be suffering from cuts and bruises but the condition of neither was reported serious.

Railroad officials said they believed a section of a tunnel wall, weakened by rain, collapsed on the track, according to The Associated Press. The wreckage was expected to be cleared away today although traffic still was detouring around the accident site. The cars, traveling between Monongahala and Corning, were empty and were strewn across the rails by the derailment.

In Ashtabula, seven cars of a fast New York Central freight train derailed yesterday. The Associated Press reported, ripping up 450 meet of road bed and damaging new planking in front of the passenger station. No one was injured. Observers said they believed the wreck was caused by a broken axle on a car near the end of the train.

THIRD OF NATION TO GO ON DAYLIGHT SAVING TIME

Northeast To Change Clocks at 2 A. M. Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26 — Daylight saving time begins at 2 a. m. tomorrow for at least one-third of the nation's 140,000,000 population—largely in the northeast.

Changing the clock is not so popular in the south, west and midwest, where the rural voice is stronger.

The hour lost by turning the clock ahead will be made up Sept. 28 when standard time returns.

Radio program times will be advanced one hour in standard time areas as the four networks chance to daylight saving time. At least three of the chains, however, plan to make recordings of some programs so that stations in standard time areas can broadcast them at the usual time if they desire.

Airlines will retain standard time schedules.

All or most communities will observe daylight saving time in New York, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Delaware, Vermont and Pennsylvania.

Several communities will observe it in Maryland, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Tennessee and Michigan.

The other states will have little or no daylight saving time.

OHIO REPORTS SKID IN PRICES

Drops Listed in Announcements from Throughout State.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 26—Prices of various commodities were dropping in Ohio today and merchandising experts attributed the reduction of buyer resistance—from both consumer and retailer—reaching the manufacturer and wholesaler.

"A buyer's market has started to knock the price structure back into balance," said Fred Lazarus Jr., president of Federated Department Stores, Inc., operator of the huge John Shillito Co. in Cincinnati.

Declaring both consumer and retailer had been resisting high prices, he said the manufacturer soon would "find himself in a buyer's market, too," and added:

"He'll put pressure on the producer of raw materials. Then the cure—youll have a balanced price economy."

Clevelander Sees Hope

In Cleveland, another department store spokesman said:

"There is some evidence that some manufacturers are beginning to turn out merchandise tha can be sold in familiar price categories—those in effect when OPA control was killed."

Other Cleveland retainers said they were refusing to buy some late summer and fall items at this time. The Glanz Style Shop, a Cleveland store, instituted a 10 per cent across-the-board price cut.

Triangle food stores—which operates 115 groceries in the Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky area—announced price cuts averaging 10 per cent.

"Our prices are being governed directly by the wholesalers," said J. A. Smith, Triangle's advertising manager. "As soon as we receive a new price adjustment, we pass it on immediately to our grocers and they set a new price at that time."

In Cincinnati yesterday, both the Kroger Company and Albers Supermarkets, Inc., announced they were reducing costs to their customers as fast as manufacturers and processors slashed their prices.

Announce Price Decrease

In Cleveland, Durkee famous foods announced a reduction of three cents a pound in the wholesale price of oleomargarine and attributed the slash to recent cuts in the cost of raw materials, such as vegetable oils and milk.

The downward movement got municipal impetus in Cincinnati with introduction of a resolution in city council calling for communitywide reduction in prices of 10 per cent.

Leslie R. Monroe, Cuyahoga (Cleveland) purchasing agent, said as far as his county government was concerned the seller's market was over. He reported more salesmen had called on him in the past 30 days than in the previous months and that the county was doing its buying on a month-to-month basis.

Only $23,740 in Taxes Unpaid On Marion County Real Estate

Amount of delinquent taxes on real estate in Marion county is the lowest in many years, according to figures released today by Marion County Auditor Harry V. Mounts.

Total amount of taxes now delinquent on regular real estate is now only $23,740.26, the county auditor reported, as he entered final postings on the February real estate tax settlement. In the last 10 years, Marion county real estate taxpayers have cut $317,528.33 from the delinquent tax list.

The February 1937 real estate tax settlement showed delinquencies totaling $341,268.59. By 1942 the figure had been cut to $98,434.49.

During the last year more than $12,600 was cut from the total amount of delinquencies, which after the February, 1946, settlement totaled $36,413.36.

The largest amount of delinquent taxes were paid off between the years of 1937 and 1942, the county auditor pointed out. During that period, delinquencies totaling $242,834 10 were marked off the books.

The county auditor's office has conducted no land sales on delinquent properties since 1938 and 1939. During those years 750 parcels were sold.

Number of foreclosure cases during the last 10 years also has shown a decided drop, Mr. Mounts reported.

Abandonment of Dillon Dam Project Reported Considered

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio) said today abandonment of plans for the Dillon dam on the Licking river near Nashport, O., is under consideration.

The proposal, he said, has been discussed with Rep. Dondero (R-Mich) chairman of the house public works committee, who has introduced legislation to cancel authorization for surveys of 81 flood control and navigation projects.

McGregor said he would favor abandonment of the Dillon dam project because of increased costs since the dam first was authorized. The increase, he said, makes estimated expenditures "so high they couldn't be justified."

Original estimates, he said, fixed the cost of the dam at about $4,000,000. That estimate, he said, now ranges between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

McGregor told a reported that "I would like to see it abandoned The people in the area don't think it is necessary."

He added that he objected to removal of approximately 600 houses to clear the dam site while a housing shortage exists throughout the country.

He said he and Dondero have discussed with army engineers abandonment of the Dillon dam project, but said hearings may be held before a final decision is reached.

Slugger Rudy York Rescued from Hotel Room Fire Unhurt

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 26—Rudy York, slugging Boston Red Sox first baseman who smashed a three-run homer over the left field wall in yesterday's game with the Philadelphia Athletics, was half-dragged, half-carried out of his flaming hotel room early today.

A doctor who examined York in the lobby said he suffered only slight smoke inhalation.

Red Sox General Manager Eddie Collins' office said York had reported to a secretary that he was "all right" and would play in today's game.

York probably escaped more serious injury because Miss Mary Kent, 51, who lives on the third floor of the hotel (Myles Standish) above York awoke to find smoke rising from the floor opening beneath a radiator.

Night Engineer Ben Petruzzi traced the smoke to York's room and entered with a pass key when pounding on the door failed to awaken the ball player.

"I could see hardly anything through the smoke," Petruzzi said. "Then I saw a leg half out of bed and I pulled the sleeper on to the floor.

"When I got him out in the hallway I tried to get him some clothes. He only had on shorts and undershirt. But the whole room was blazing then and all I could get was a pair of pants and one bag."

York left the hotel later with two friends, leaving the bag behind, all that survived the fire in his room.

Acting Fire Chief Thomas Manning said the blaze was caused by "smoking in bed." He estimated damage in the room at $1,000.

VETERANS' SHRINE DEDICATION SUNDAY

Marion Women To Attend Loudenville Ceremony.

Mrs. Clarence Weber of 105 Wildwod court, a member of the board of the Ohio Federation of Women's clubs, will attend a luncheon at the Mansfield airport tomorrow preceding dedication of the Ohio Memorial forest and shrine, project sponsored by the Federation of Women's clubs. A number of other persons from Marion plan to attend the dedication which will be at 1:30 p. m. The shrine is located southwest of Loudonville on State Route 97, at the junction of Routes 97 and 3.

The forest and shrine will be dedicated to the memory of the young men and women of the state who gave their lives in World War II. The names of these persons in a book placed in the shrine, will be listed by counties. All women's clubs of Marion affiliated with the Federation of Women's clubs have contributed toward this project.

Dedication ceremonies will begin with a concert by the Lockbourne Army air base band, followed by addresses by Admiral Ernest J. King and Major General Curtis E. LeMay. Mrs. Clarence Goldthorpe, president of the Ohio Federation, will give the speech of presentation of the memorial park and shrine, and Governor Thomas Herbert will speak.

U.S. To Press Claim Aainst 964 Railroads

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—The justice department plans to file Monday a claim against 964 railroads for refunds on wartime military freight traffic charges which may run into millions of dollars.

Attorney General Tom Clark announced the action, before the interstate commerce commission, will be based on a contention that the railroads charged the government more than private shippers on the same type of freight.

The charges were on freight destined for overseas movement but held at interior points during acute congestion at seaports during the war.

The justice department's only estimate of how much would be involved was "millions".

Officials of the Association of American Railroads said they would withhold comment until they see the complaint.

Marion Girl Returns To Europe To Serve in Red Cross Work

A Marion girl, Miss Garnet G. Thomasson of 238 Olney avenue, who served overseas in World War II as a staff assistant and program director with the American Red Cross has reentered Red Cross work and is again overseas.

A recent letter received by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Thomasson of the Olney Avenue address, said she is in Germany and "still moving."

Miss Thomasson sailed from New York on the Thomas H. Barry earlier this month. Aboard the Army transport were 258 GI wives and children 28 Red Cross workers and 10 Red Cross nurses. Miss Thomasson will be stationed in the European area. Prior to accepting her second assignment she was private secretary to C. B. McDonald, investment banker and broker in Cleveland, and made her home in Lakewood.

She was in Europe for the Red Cross from November of 1943 until November of 1945 as a staff assistant and program director. She was in Aeroclub work, attached to the Ninth Air Corps in England. As club director with the "Hell Hawks," 365th Fighter Group, she went to France and opened one of the first clubs in that country on July 18, 1944. She was transferred to the famous "Rainbow Corners" in Paris in October of 1944. While program director there she, planned and started the first classes for French brides of American soldiers. She returned to the States in November of 1945.

MISS GARNET THOMASSON

Miss Thomasson graduated from Harding High school and Draughon's Secretarial School in San Antonio, Tex. She is a member of Gamma Mu chapter, Delta Theta Tau sorority.

FIRM REJECTS PHONE OFFER

Long Lines Unit Turns Down Union Wage Figure, Now Cut in Half.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—An offer by striking telephone workers to settle their wage demands for $6 a week ran into a rejection from an important Bell system unit today, but government conciliators went ahead with efforts to end the 20-day old cross country tieup.

The turndown came from the long lines division of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. It termed "unacceptable" the union's proposal that all its members accept half the $12 demanded when the walkout started April 7.

Instead, the company offered once again to arbitrate wages on a community basis. The union declined, but negotiations continued.

Government conciliators scheduled two other major conferences today between important Bell system companies and the unions of their employes, affiliated with the striking National Federation of Telephone Workers. These are the Western Electric Co. and the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Negotiations Begin

The government-sponsored negotiations for the 20,000 long lines workers began last night and were set to continue this morning.

The NFTW policy committee reduced the wage demand to $6 to bring it into line with the 15-cent hourly wage increases for steel, auto and electrical manufacturing unions.

SENATE INCLINED TO LAUGH OFF "VETO"

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — Republicans on the senate war investigating committee talked today of letting President Truman off gently on his "Wheeler veto" mixup but blew up a new storm over his restrictions on records of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Chairman Brewster (R-Me), called the G.O.P.-controlled committee together to decide what the members wanted to do about:

1. A proposal to pass a compromise version of the vetoed resolution to let former Senator Burton K. Wheeler keep his private law practice while serving as special committee counsel in an oil investigation.

2. President Truman's decision that the oil investigators may obtain from the Roosevelt Hyde Park files only those documents they describe in advance.

The compromise resolution suggested by Senator Hatch (D-NM), is tailored to overcome a justice department objection that the original might have been interpreted as giving Wheeler power to bring suit in behalf of the government.

President Truman signed the veto message prepared by the justice department and stood by it at his Thursday news conference, although several senators declared he approved an identical resolution for the senate-house Pearl Harbor committee, in December, 1945.

Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), a committee members, still wanted to ask congress to override the veto.

GREETS ENVOY UPON RETURN

Tells Secretary Nation Will Be Pleased After Hearing Monday's Report.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—President Truman told Secretary of State Marshall upon his return from the Moscow conference today that he was very well pleased with what the secretary had been doing.

Interrupting a weekend cruise on the Potomac to greet Marshall at National airport, Mr. Truman said he knows that when the secretary makes his report to the country the people will feel pleased also.

Marshall is to make a half hour broadcast over three of the four major networks at 8:30 p. m. Monday night on the work of the foreign ministers at Moscow.

Marshall told Mr. Truman that he considered the personal welcome by the President a great honor to himself and members of the American delegation.

"Tried to do Best"

The secretary said he and his associates tried to do their best, not only for the United States, but for the world.

Mr. Truman and Marshall spoke briefly for newsreels after Marshall and a group of five advisors stepped from the plane which brought them from Moscow. They left Moscow yesterday morning.

Speaking into the microphone for the newsreels, President Truman said:

"I am most happy to welcome you back with us.

"I am very well pleased with what you have been doing. I know when you make the report to the country the people will also be pleased."

Declines Direct Comment

Marshall declined direct comment on the results of the conference, which failed to reach agreement on major issues.

The secretary planned to leave Washington almost immediately by plane for Pinehurst, N. C., for an overnight visit with Mrs. Marshall. A plane was standing by at the airport for that flight.

He is expected to return to Washington some time Sunday since he is scheduled to meet with Mr. Truman and congressional leaders at the White House tomorrow night to give them a first-hand account of what happened in Moscow before making his broadcast to the nation Monday.

With him on his flight from Moscow via Berlin and Iceland Marshall brought a lop-sided mixture of many disappointments and some accomplishments—the fruits of his first major conference in the role of the nation's top-ranking diplomat.

Had Hoped for More

He had hoped for more when he left; a firm peace settlement for Austria; greater progress in welding economic unity and in starting work on a treaty for Germany.

Mr. Truman late yesterday invited congressional leaders to a White House huddle Sunday night to hear a first hand account of the Big Four foreign ministers' council and perhaps a report on what Marshall and Premier Stalin discussed in private at the Kremlin.

The legislative leaders counted also on obtaining Marshall's estimate of the Russian reaction to the momentous foreign policies they have been shaping since he left.

The secretary of state will report to the nation in a half-hour broadcast over three of the four major networks at 8:30 p. m., Monday night.

The White House conference Sunday plus the broadcast may forestall a Capitol Hill appearance later in the week.

Thousands Join Truman In Welcoming Marshall

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — Secretary of State Marshall returned from Moscow at 10:40 a. m. today and was greeted by President Truman and several thousand spectators at National Airport.

Mr. Truman shook hands warmly with the secretary, chatted with him a few moments, then shook hands with the secretary's advisors who flew back with him from the foreign ministers conference.

With the President, who interrupted a cruise on the Potomac river to welcome Marshall, were Senator Connally (D-Tex), Secretary of Commerce Harriman, Under Secretary of State Dean Acheson and several other state department officials.

Chaplains Serve Vets In All VA Hospitals

Twenty full-time and five part-time chaplains provide spiritual advise and guidance for more than 9,000 veterans who are confined to the nine Veterans Administration hospitals in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky.

The VA Chaplaincy Service, established in 1942 upon suggestion of the Federal Council of Churches, now has 268 full-time Chaplains, representing 27 denominations, under the directorship of Chaplain Crawford W. Brown, of Washington, D. C. Chaplain Edward J. Kroencke is chief of the service for the VA's tri-state Branch Office in Columbus.

The services of VA Chaplains are available to hospitalized veterans through personal contacts, regular chapel devotions and ward visitations. The Chaplains' duties are concerned with baptisms, marriages and funerals. They also assist patients and families through pastoral consultations.

4,416 Tri-State Vets Get Vocational Advice

A total of 4,416 World War II veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky received vocational advisement and guidance during March at 44 centers established by the Veterans Administration in cooperation with educational institutions and other agencies.

The total included 2,488 at 22 centers in Ohio. Majority of those counseled were disabled veterans.

Advisement and guidance is voluntary for veterans who wish to study or train under the GI Bill, but is required for disabled veterans who wish vocational rehabilitation under provisions of Public Law 16.

Purpose of the program is to help veterans explore their interests, needs and abilities, as well as to provide them with information about schools, training and job opportunities.

Vets May Study Abroad Under GI Bill

World War II veterans may attend schools abroad under the GI Bill on the same basis as they qualify for study in the United States.

More than 1,150 veterans in the U. S. now are enrolled in 198 schools in 31 different countries under the GI Bill, with nearly half of the number studying in Canada. The foreign institutions include many of the world's leading universities, colleges and professional schools, as well as art and music conservatories, technical schools and others.

Veterans desiring to attend foreign institutions first apply to VA for a certificate of eligibility to enroll in any VA-approved institution in the U. S. or abroad. Veterans must make their own arrangements for admission to foreign institutions of their choice and not until they have been notified of their acceptance should they arrange for passport, visas and transportation. They must pay their own transportation costs.

Veterans may obtain information on foreign institutions by addressing the Foreign Education Division of the Veterans Administration, Washington, D. C.

VA Contact Service Busy During March

The 110 Veterans Administration contact offices in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky made a total of 314,773 contacts during March with veterans, dependents and beneficiaries. The total included 134,308 contacts by Ohio's 48 offices. The figures included personal visits to the VA offices, contacts which were made by VA representatives away from the offices, telephone calls and correspondence.

Contact offices are the direct link between VA and the public. They represent all functions of VA, assisting and advising veterans and others of right and benefits established by law.

Questions and Answers

Q. I was discharged from the Army because my mother was dependent on me. Am I eligible to enter a course of education or training

A. Yes. The fact that you were discharged from the service because of dependency of your mother would not be material if you otherwise are qualified.

Q. What benefits, other than subsistence, is a veteran entitled to while pursuing course of education under the GI Bill?

A. VA will pay for the veteran's tuition, books, supplies, fees and other authorized expenses within certain limitations.

Q. I have a service-connected disability and am to be rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act (Public Law 16). Will my compensation payments be increased while I am pursuing a course of vocational rehabilitation?

A. No, your compensation will not be increased, but during the time you are being rehabilitated, you will receive your disability compensation plus subsistence allowance to bring you up to $105 a month if you do not have a dependent. Additional amounts will be added for each dependent or dependents.

Q. I am being rehabilitated under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Am I entitled to a vacation during the summer, and will I continue to receive subsistence allowance during the vacation?

A. Yes. You will be entitled to leave of absence not to exceed 30 days in any consecutive 12-month period, and you will receive compensation and subsistence allowance during the vacation periods.

Christianity Called Core of Democracy

By The Associated Press

WESTERVILLE, O., April 26—The dean of the divinity school of Yale university declared last night that "Christian faith is the very substance of democratic government."

In an address at a three-day founders day conference at Otterbein college, Dr. Luther A. Weigle said freedom of religion and freedom of conscience were especially important.

Of Russia, the Yale divinity dean commented:

"The deep-seated religious faith of the Russian people has not perished, but will assert itself."

R. H. Edwin Espy, executive secretary of the National Student Council of the Y.M.C.A., asserted that "we are living in a world of mental and spiritual revolution and the visible manifestations are less significant than the transformation in human thinking."

Special to The Star

GALION, April 26—An increase in church membership has necessitated an expansion program at the Church of the Nazarene, it was reported this week by the pastor, Rev. J. G. Walls. A committee to consider the program has recommended enlargement of the present seating capacity of the main auditorium. The minimum cost of such a program will be $20,000, Rev. Wells said. He explained that in the last 11 months, church membership has increased 30 per cent.

Not long ago a Sunday school bus was purchased by the church, and workers were sent out to various parts of the city to solicit parents who have no means of conveyance and who are not regularly attending elsewhere, to attend the Sunday services at the church.

Galion Society Shown New Guinea Pictures

Special to The Star

GALION, April 26—The theme for the April meeting of the Woman's Missionary society at Peace Lutheran parish house Thursday night was the mission field in New Guinea.

Colored pictures taken by Mr. and Mrs. Russell Sherer and two children, formerly of this vicinity, of their trip to New Guinea and of the mission field there, were shown at the meeting given by Mrs. Lloyd Rehl, president of the society, and sister of Mr. Sherer.

In addition to the pictures, the program included a devotional service conducted by Miss Minnie Kreiter, and the study topic which was presented by Mrs. Carrie Smith and Mrs. Erma Lenhart.

The monthly business and social meeting of the Willing Workers and Men's Bible classes of First Evangelical United Brethren church was held Thursday evening in the A. A. hall.

Mrs. LeRoy Lindsey Dies At Home in Cleveland

Mrs. LeRoy Lindsay, a former Marion resident, died at her home on Ashbury avenue in Cleveland at 12:30 a. m. today after long illness, according to word received by Marion relatives.

She was the daughter of Michel and Wilhelmia Hecker Albright and left Marion approximately 30 years ago. Her husband and one daughter, both of Cleveland, survive, with several nieces and nephews of Marion. The body will be brought here for funeral services and burial.

Services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. in the Schaffner-Denzer funeral home on East Center street. Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow night.

County Represented At Loan Meeting

H. C. Smith, of Caledonia, president, and H. L. Wenner, secretary-treasurer of the Marion National Farm Loan association, have returned from Louisville where they represented their organization at the thirteenth anniversary celebration held by the Federal Land bank of Louisville.

The two-day meeting was held to review the progress of 30 years during which 180,000 loans were made for more than $450,000,000, to discuss present problems, and to plan for the future. Representatives of national farm loan associations all over the states of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee, attended.

Reclamation of Western U. S. Causing Big Fight in Congress

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON, April 26 — Reclamation? There's a fight in congress over it. What does it mean? Here's the story.

Much of the western United States was known as the great American desert. Rainfall was scarce and still is, in much of it.

James Marlow

Because the unwatered land was no good for crops, the early settlers tried to reclaim it from the desert.

They did it by homely devices, such as ditches that carried water to their dry land from streams and so on. The limit for this kind of reclamation was reached about 1900. Millions of acres still could be reclaimed but—

From 1900 it became clear further reclamation would have to be done on a big scale in a way that would carry water many miles to many farms.

Passed Law in 1902

So congress in 1902 passed a reclamation law to help make western lands fertile. The act still stands. It covers 17 western states.

Since 1902 the government has spent about 1,000,000,000 on reclamation work.

The value of the crops raised on the land reclaimed through government help since 1902 has been about $5,000,000,000.

The government now has 54 irrigation, or reclamation, projects in operation and another 28 under construction.

About 5,000,000 acres of land are supplied with water from the government systems now. Another 5,000,000 will be supplied when the new projects are finished.

That won't be the limit. More acres can be supplied with water in the years ahead as even more projects are added.

Depend on Irrigation

Except for the grass-growing ranges where the cattle feed, most of the 17 western states depend upon irrigation for crops.

As time passed, the government advanced from simple irrigation projects to huge plants which could help supply not only water for irrigation but electric power to surrounding areas.

Example:

In 1936 the government finished Boulder dam in the lower Colorado river at a cost of $136,000,000.

It helps irrigate 400,000 acres of land and it supplies electric power to lower California, lower Nevada, and eastern Arizona.

The reclamation programs are carried out by the interior department.

Like every other government agency, each year it must go to congress for money to keep running another year.

Go To House Committee

All such requests go first to the house appropriations committee The requests are then handed to a number of subcommittees

This subcommittee on the interior department examined its request for money to handle reclamation and decided to give it a big whack.

Interior asked for $145,852,200 for its reclamation work. The subcommittee decided it needed only $62,717,600, a cut of $83,234,600.

Then the subcommittee sent out its whacked-down figure to the full house to vote on. The house put back only $5,175,000 of the reclamation money

There was only one man from the west—Rep. Stockman, Oregon Republican—on the subcommittee.

(The Republicans, in control of the committees and on congress, are cutting down government expenses because they promised to).

But the western Republicans in congress took a look at this big cut in the funds for reclamation work.

They're mad. Reclamation helps their people in the west. So, now they are going to try to get the senate to vote for what interior asked.

Wife and Son Of Marion Soldier Going To Germany

Mrs. Charles A. Baker and son, Roger, will leave next Wednesday for New York City and later will sail for Europe to join Master Sgt. Charles A. Baker of the U. S. Army in Munich, Germany. They are due at Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, May 1.

Mrs Baker and son are two of several hundred wives and children of service men now in foreign service, scheduled to make the voyage to new homes overseas

Sgt. Baker, who served nearly a year with the armed forces in England during World War II, reenlisted for service Oct. 24, 1945, and was sent to Germany in January this year. Prior to leaving the United States he was stationed with a hospital unit at Camp Campbell, Ky. Since his departure Mrs. Baker and their son, who were with him in Kentucky, have been making their home with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs Frank E Butterworth of 616 North Greenwood street The Bakers were married June 12, 1943, in Richmond, Va.

Before her marriage Mrs. Baker, who was Miss Connie Butterworth, was employed for one and a half years at the Lockheed aircraft plant in California. She is a member of Beta Gamma chapter, Lambda Chi Omega sorority. Sgt Baker, who is the son of Mrs C. T. Lusk of Forest Lawn boulevard, was employed with the Marion Power Shovel Co. before entering service.

YOUR HEALTH

By HERMAN BUNDESEN, M.D.

Phlebitis

PHLEBITIS is a hard word for a common disorder, which often occurs after operations and childbirth. It simply means inflammation of a vein and refers especially to inflammation affecting the veins of the legs.

Formerly, it was thought best to keep the patient in bed while Nature healed the inflammation. Since Nature works slowly, the time in bed was long and patients often had to miss more time from work than they could well afford.

Now, Dr. Clark W. Day of Indiana has devised what he believes is a more satisfactory method of handling the disorder. By this treatment the patient is allowed to be up and about while pressure is applied to the inflamed area. According to Dr. Day, it not only has the advantage of permitting the patient to go about his ordinary duties, but relieves pain immediately and cures the inflammation completely.

In carrying out the treatment, he uses two bandages, one made up of soft, moist medicated material which is applied directly to the leg, and an elastic bandage which is put over the first one. The medication of the first bandage protects the skin and thus prevents irritation and discomfort when the bandages are changed. Furthermore, this method makes it unnecessary to shave the hair off the leg. The bandages can be put on with ease

The patient lies down on a flat surface. A piece of gauze covered with petrolatum is wrapped over the ankle bones to protect them. Then the first bandage is applied loosely, starting at the toes and going up to the knee Then the pressure bandage is put on in the same way.

In bandaging the thigh the bandage is started in the groin and wrapped around the thigh toward the knee. The knee is not banaged except when there is inflammation of the veins in this area and in cases of acute inflammation in which instances the whole leg is bandaged. When this is done the knee is protected with gauze covered with the petrolatum in the same way as for the ankle.

This treatment also may be used in the case of ulcers of the skin which may occur because of varicose or dilated veins. The ulcer is first covered with a piece of gauze spread with some mild ointment such as cod-liver ointment and then the pressure bandage is put on.

The bandages are changed as soon as they become loose, as a rule, twice a week. In order to get the best effect, the patient must avoid standing without moving and should walk at least three miles a day.

Like a look at your Future – RIGHT NOW?

JUST pause a moment on any corner of the smartest street in town.

Wait till you see this gleaming grille bearing down on you – these long fender lines sweeping past – this trim rear bumper flashing its farewell.

That's not just the new '47 Buick you're seeing, but the tip-off on tomorrow as far as car styling is concerned.

Here's the long, low, sweeping look designers even now are striving to equal.

Here's the broad beam that tells of plenty-room, the proud bearing that spells power and ability and steady road-wise going.

We're not saying you'll match this flashing action elsewhere – Buick's frugal Fireball combustion principle and Accurité cylinder finish give us pretty much of a corner on that.

And not everywhere will you find the fluid stride, the ever-easy comfort of soft, BuiCoil springing on all four wheels. Only Buick, after all, can be all a Buick is.

But here's the way the smartest cars will dress themselves – for a long while to come. Here's a high-styled high stepper that will keep you among the first-in-fashion for years and years.

That being so—why hesitate? There's no smarter step you can take to make your dollar count and cut your waiting to the minimum – than to get your order in now.

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

A NUPTIAL high mass in St. Mary Catholic church this morning solemnized the marriage of Miss Catherine Louise Cusick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo J. Cusick of the Davids-Gooding road, and James F. Sens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sens of Ballentine [illegible]. Rev. William J. Spickerman, pastor, read the ceremony and was the celebrant for the mass celebrated at 9 30 o'clock.

The gold vases on the main altar held bouquets of white carnations, greenery and the same flowers were used to decorate the [illegible] altars. The choir sang Rossini's nuptial mass and "Ave Maria," by César Franck, accompanied at the organ by Miss Rosaline [illegible]. The traditional wedding marches were used for the processional and recessional.

The bride's four sisters were her attendants. Miss Mary Cusick was maid of honor, her twin [illegible] Misses Rosemary and [illegible] Cusick, bridesmaids, and Miss Jane Cusick junior bridesmaid. They wore identical [illegible] accented with shirred [illegible] and horsehair hats and [illegible] matching their gowns. Their [illegible] were cascade bouquets of [illegible]. Miss Mary Cusick wore silver [illegible] and the bridesmaids and junior bridesmaid were in gowns of [illegible] satin.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore an original [illegible] white bridal satin. Pearl and crystal beads trimmed the neckline and the sleeves [illegible] in points at the hands, and [illegible] edging the long torso [illegible] repeated in the redingote-[illegible] skirt which extended into a deep train. Her veil of English illusion fell from a Russian styled crown of pearls and crystal beads and she carried a bridal bouquet of calla lilies.

Charles Sens, brother of the bridegroom, served as his best man and ushers were Richard and James Cusick, brothers of the bride, and Jack Fye.

The bride's mother chose for the wedding a two-piece dress in an aqua shade and the bridegroom's mother was costumed in light blue. Both wore corsages of pink and white shattered carnations.

Mr. and Mrs Cusick were hosts at a breakfast at Hotel Harding following the mass The table was lighted with candles in silver holders and huckleberry foliage carried out a decorative theme. Bouquets of carnations and greenery were used at the Cusick home for a reception this afternoon

The bride and bridegroom will spend their honeymoon in the east. For travelling Mrs Sens chose a Kelly green suit with brown accessories and she wore the bridegroom's gift a single strand of pearls They will make their home at 419 South Main street

The bride was graduated from Pleasant High school and Mt. Carmel Hospital Training School for Nursing in Columbus. She is a nurse in the office of Dr. J. A McNamara. The bridegroom attended St. Mary Parochial High school and during World War II served nearly three years in the European theater with the Army Air Corps. He is a salesman with the Stuart Grocery Co.

The bride's gift to her maid of honor was a jeweled pendant and to the bridesmaids she gave necklaces with gold crosses Mr Sens presented his best man a gold key chain and the ushers cigaret lighters

Out-of-town guests here for the wedding included Mr and Mrs E P Cusick of Mansfield. Thomas A Cusick and family of Toledo, Miss Rhea Kierns of Delaware, Miss Naomi Swem of Detroit and Mrs R L. Weber of Milton, Mass

Trial of May To Be Resumed

Former Congressman's Hearing To Begin Again Monday After Recess.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—The government plans to go ahead Monday with evidence in federal court about wartime lumber deals involving Andrew J. May, former chairman of the house military committee

The trial of the Democratic ex-congressman and three others on war fraud charges adjourned for the weekend. His co-defendants are accused of conspiring to buy the Kentuckian's influence to get war department favors

The others are Murray and Henry Garsson, figures in a munitions-making combine and Joseph F Freeman, their Washington agent.

Says Payment Approved

L. W Arthur, comptroller of the Batavia (Ill.) Metal Products Co., testified yesterday Henry Garsson approved payment of a $1,500 draft which May drew for cash against the firm, part of the Garsson munitions combine

The transaction is one of several which have been laid before the jury trying May on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government on war contracts On trial with May are Henry and Murray Garsson and their Washington agent, Joseph F Freeman

Arthur testified that Henry Garsson, president of the Batavia company, approved the payment of the draft by initialing it "Okay H M G."

"Drew Money in Cash"

Previous witnesses said that May drew the money in cash on a sight draft at the First National bank of Prestonburg, Ky.

A federal indictment charges May took $5 000 cash and $53,000 in advances from Garsson firms for lumber that allegedly never was delivered

J E Stanley, clerk of the Prestonsburg bank, testified that May and his nephew, William H. May, former Kentucky commissioner of agriculture, deposited a total of $3,300 to a bank acount of the Cumberland Lumber Co.

The jury has heard testimoney that May received checks from Garsson firms in his personal bank account The defense contends, however, that the 72-year-old May paid out the money for Cumberland firm operations as a fiscal agent for the Garssons

WATCHMAN HURT WHEN HIT BY CAR

W. J. Geary Injured While Guarding Crossing.

W. J. Geary of 614 Davids street, watchman at the New York Central railroad crossing at West Mill and Oak streets, was struck by an automobile Friday at 7 p. m. while protecting the crossing from an approaching train, police reported. He was taken to City hospital with leg and shoulder injuries, where his condition today was given as "fair."

The automobile was driven by George Parks, 61, of 746 Davids street. Police said the accident occurred as Parks turned south onto Oak street from Mill street.

An automobile driven by Harry C. Lee, 34, of LaRue, was reported to have struck a parked car owned by John H. Hopkins, 34, of 813 Cheney avenue on West Center at Scioto street Saturday at 12 30 a m. Lee told police he swerved to avoid a car which was stalled in the middle of the street.

By Their Lies Shall We Know Them

CONTRARY to a lie circulated by ax-grinders with an ulterior purpose to serve, price inflation was not invented in the United States. It is thousands of years old.

Nor was price inflation unknown before the time of the enterprise-profit system which has given this country the highest material standard of living ever seen. That's another lie foisted on the foolish by persons with an ulterior purpose to serve. And while lies are being tagged, it's not true that the United States is having price inflation because certain persons who itched to control both prices and profits were separated involuntarily from their jobs in Washington.

These falsehoods and others are kept in circulation to give the existing American way of doing things a black eye. It is part of a systematic effort to keep Americans from thinking about the benefits they have derived, by keeping their attention on the problems of handling their own affairs.

By their lies shall we know them—these persons who are always the first to cast discredit and the last to bestow credit.

Eventually, prices will go down. When that happens, the ax-grinders will sharpen the other blade of their double-bitted weapon; they will blame the American system for letting prices go down. That was their plaint during the depression—and the United States didn't invent depressions, either.

The ax-grinders, if asked, will recommend a switchover to their system. One guess will be given each customer who doesn't know what the system is. Any customer who can't do it in one guess shouldn't be playing guessing games.

We Learned Something

POSTWAR disillusionment has reached the stage at which skeptics are asking what the United States got out of its participation, except debt.

President Truman has answered the skeptics with his proposal for a revision of the Neutrality Act of 1939. He explains that this outdated legislation makes it mandatory for the secretary of state to treat "aggressor and aggrieved, peacemaker and trouble-maker" alike. He recommends that this be changed; "such a provision of law is no longer consistent with this country's commitments and requirements."

The United States has got that much out of the war. From 1935 to 1939, while the world fell in ruins, this government clung to the hope it might be able to dissociate itself from its proper share of responsibility for the fate of mankind. It watched while Ethiopia, Spain and Manchuria were put into chains. It watched while Germany brought the Balkan states to heel and prepared to unleash the German blood lust the second time in the 1st half of the 20th century.

Americans mouthed wistful little arguments about neutrality and nonintervention. They watched the rape of France and the onslaught to crush Britain. They watched the cynical alliance of Germany and Russia, and they watched the betrayal which proved to be Hitler's and the Japanese war lords' downfall. Until Pearl Harbor jolted the United States awake, this country actually was carried away by the illusion of isolation from international danger. President Truman has signified that it is time now to erase from the statutes a law which was absurd when it was adopted. There was no neutrality for the United States in 1939. There is no neutrality for the United States in 1947. Americans have learned that much.

Common Objective

A SOUND suggestion about legislation to curb excesses of union power has been made by Senator Smith of New Jersey, who thinks Republican leadership in the Senate should confer with President Truman to learn what kind of a bill he would accept.

It is obvious that the President and the Republican majority in congress have a common objective: They want legislation to curb excesses of union power. Mr. Truman does not want to be confronted with a bill that he would have to veto. The majority does not want to make an emergency of its determination to pass a bill adequate for the occasion. If a presidential veto were forced, it would put Mr. Truman back into the dilemma he was able to escape from after last November's election; he would be identified with the left wing party at a time when the middle-of-the-roaders were dominant. It also would put the Republicans into position, as far as Mr. Truman is concerned, to make further political capital of union excesses. As far as the Republicans were concerned, it would put them simultaneously into a position of making a cause celebre of something that in 1947 should properly be handled as an anticlimax, and would be a backfire of their strategy of putting all reforms into an omnibus bill. There would be no new law at all.

The circumstances of an understanding between the Republicans in congress and the Democrat in the White House are present. Senator Smith has made a good suggestion.

Elliott Bites Press

By RAYMOND MOLEY

Internal Battle Developing in Roosevelt Camp.

NEW DEALERS are still busy with the alphabet. They are no longer setting up alphabetical agencies in government; they are out in the great open spaces of politics, organizing committees and movements. And, as might have been expected, they are revealing a perfect genius for conflict among themselves.

They all seem to regard Los Angeles as rich grazing ground. On two successive days last week Elliott Roosevelt and Leon Henderson sounded off there. Elliott spoke for the PCA, which means Progressive Citizens of America. Leon belongs to the ADA, which means Americans for Democratic Action.

Criticizes Wallace

Henderson is critical of Henry Wallace. He said that Wallace, since his Madison Square Garden speech, has followed the same policy as the American Communist party. Henderson also said that his own group intends to keep Communists out of its ranks, but that the PCA is not so choosy. He said, further, "We have no mysterious messages from Franklin Roosevelt, as Mr. Wallace seems to have."

This raises an interesting point. Whether there are messages from the great beyond or not, both organizations claim to be carrying on in the name of the leader who once kept all these people in one household.

And speaking of messages, here is one from two presidents who successfully led the Democratic party: In 1934 President Roosevelt spoke of the problem he confronted in keeping all the various breeds of liberals in one party. He said that when he was assistant secretary of the Navy President Wilson told him of his own troubles with liberals. Wilson said that, while the goal of all these people might be the same, they all wanted to follow different roads. They were he continued, individualists They could not get on together. This, said Wilson, was his greatest trial as a party leader. Roosevelt added that he, too, felt this difficulty keenly.

Worth Considering

These assorted groups might well ponder this message.

They might well remember another lesson from recent history. After the death of T. R. in 1919, there was division in the ranks of his followers. Hiram Johnson and Leonard Wood both claimed to be the Roosevelt heir. Both gathered delegates and sought the 1920 nomination. They succeeded only in making certain the success of the disciplined old guard. Harding emerged as the candidate.

The followers of F D R. are using the same system of divide and lose. Even the Roosevelt family is divided. Elliott is in one camp; his mother and brother are in another.

A veteran Los Angeles reporter, Tim Turner, reports that of all the left-wing figures he has ever interviewed, back to the days of Eugene Debs, Elliott Roosevelt gave him the most unpleasant time The former president's son is campaigning not against the Republicans, it seems, but against the press. He claims that the press is not fair to Henry Wallace. But as Turner remarks, Wallace is probably getting more space than he deserves, chiefly because the press is anxious that there be no basis for charges such as those leveled by Elliott Roosevelt

And so with the ADA attacking the PCA, and the PCA attacking the press, the Republicans seem to be enjoying a happy immunity.

They Silenced Leo,
Why Not Henry?

As a service to musicians, the national bureau of standards has begun broadcasting the correct pitch on a special wave length.

Thus far, however, no one within the government has figured out any way of keeping Henry Wallace in tune.

Wallace has been sounding off with greater regularity—but less accuracy—than Big Ben. His intentions may be good, but his aim is certainly poor.

Hank has been put up with in the past because he was recognized as an idealist. But an increasing number are coming to feel that he has abused his dreamer's license.

In fact, some of his critics are urging that Henry be indicted and brought to trial for lunacy if not for treason.

Others suggest merely that he be banished from the public eye by again filing him away in the vice presidency.

Wallace is the gent Republicans have in mind when they point out that this is not the first time the country has been without a vice president.

Public Schools Need U. S. Aid

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE case for spending federal money on the public schools must be very strong indeed, or Senator Taft would hardly be sponsoring a bill (known as S. 472) at this time for just that. The senator is no spendthrift. Nor is he one who likes to extend the responsibilities of government, much less of the federal government, in a field which belongs primarily to the states.

But he has studied the facts, and he has concluded, as any man must who will also study them, that the condition of our public schools in many parts of the country is deplorable, indeed a national disgrace and a national danger, and that the need for federal aid is absolute and compelling.

Yet there may be some who suppose that his bill is a departure from the American tradition. It is not. Since the earliest days of the Republic the principle of federal aid to public education has been well established. Congress has enacted some 160 laws in support of education, beginning with the socalled "land ordinance of 1785." which reserved to the United States "the lot No 16 of every township" in the Western Territory, "for the maintenance of public schools within the said township." That policy was continued under the federal union, and as public lands became scarcer, federal aid to education has since 1802 been given also directly in money.

Large Land Grants

In all, 175 million acres of public lands, an area larger than Indiana, Ohio and West Virginia combined, have been devoted by the federal government to the support of education. Grants of money for various forms of education — agricultural, vocational training, military training and the like—have been made regularly and under various laws.

There will be others who feel that we have spent too much money in recent years, and that the nation cannot afford new and additional expenditures for the schools. The Taft bill, which the senator admits is only a "humble beginning" of what ought to be spent, would cost 150 millions the first year, 200 millions the second, and after that 250 million each year. It ought to be more than that, and eventually it will have to be, once the mechanism for distributing the funds has been tested. A fair estimate would be 500 millions in aid of education, and another 500 millions for school and library buildings.

For the time being, however, we are talking only of the modest sums in the Taft bill. In the year 1945 the American people spent more than three times as much for drink as they did for their elementary and secondary schools. They spent $7,700,000,000, or about $55 per capita, on drink and $2,500,000,000, or about $17 per capita, on schools. No one can keep a straight face and argue that this country could not afford to spend $2 per capita more on schools when he looks at what it does spend on other things.

Perhaps the simplest, clearest and most accurate way to judge the need for federal aid is to use as our measuring stick the average amount spent by the northern and western states per classroom unit. This would cover the teacher's salary, janitor service, equipment, heating, upkeep for a classroom of 30 children in the elementary schools and of 27 in high schools. In 1944 the northern and western states spent on the average $2,199 per year per classroom unit.

Not Enough

That was not nearly enough. There are places where the expenditure is $6,000. But the figure of $2,199 is certainly the minimum that could be called tolerable. Now if we closed all the classrooms where this minimum was not spent, two thirds of the schoolrooms in the country would be closed. In 21 states over 90 per cent of the children would be without schools.

If we raised the standard, as we ought to do, to $3,000 per classroom unit, eight out of 10 children in this country would have no school to go to. In 21 states there would be no schools at all.

The trouble with these statistics is, I realize, that they are so bad that they seem incredible. But as a matter of fact the condition of education in great parts of the country is incredibly bad. The results of our neglect of education are spectacular and humiliating. In the 1940 census there were three million adults with no schooling. There were ten million illiterates, who could not read and write as well as a child in the fourth grade. Among the young men who registered for the draft, there were 350,000 who could not sign their names. There were nearly three million boys and girls between seven and 17 years of age who were not in school. There are states where many children go to school less than five months a year.

The more you look at the facts the more certain it is that the national government will have to act. No one who looks at the facts will, I believe, come to any other conclusion.

Bibles in Stone

By The Associated Press

Thirty miles out of Carlisle, at Ruthwell, England, is to be found the oldest runic cross in the world. It was finished in A.D. 680. Such crosses, or Bibles in stone as they have been called, were actually places of worship before churches were built. It was probably a common thing in England for people to hold services around a cross in the middle of a field, churches being built later around them.

Western Dilemma

By STEWART ALSOP

CAIRO, April 26—Any traveler knows the feeling, as his journey draws to a close, that all that is left to him of his travels is an odd jumble of impressions. Yet one impression which stands out above all others is the startling unanimity with which all the most intelligent and experienced observers and officials with whom this reporter has talked point to the same danger confronting western policy in the Near and Middle East That danger is that the United States and England, in opposing Soviet expansion into this area, should become the champions of the status quo. It is dangerous simply because with one or two happy exceptions the existing regimes here are a bad bet. They are rotten and cannot last, over a long period and in the face of Soviet pressure and propaganda.

The long-term Soviet objective in the immense contest now in progress throughout this area has been repeatedly demonstrated with the utmost clarity. It is control of the whole area. The American objective is also clear. It is to prevent the Soviet Union from achieving this objective, either by military expansion or by coup d' etat, simply because the American policy makers are unanimously convinced that Soviet success would mean an overturn in the world power balance potentially disastrous to the United States. The United States is without ambitions for territorial expansion itself, but its leaders are convinced that Russian ambitions for further expansion must be checkmated. This conviction had led to a policy which both Henry Wallace and the Kremlin's "New Times" propaganda magazine unite in describing as "ruthless imperialism."

Two Fines

In this contest, as in actual warfare, there is both a front line and a rear. The front line consists of Aran, Turkey and Greece. Last spring and summer in Iran, and again early this winter in Greece, the Soviet Union came within a hair's breadth of breaking through this front line. In both cases the line was at first held, significantly, by the British. And in both cases only determined American action, no doubt unexpected in the Kremlin, has prevented a breach.

The Russians have thus been, at least temporarily, checked. Yet there is no reason to believe that the contest is thus ended, and that Russian ambitions are stilled. There are two ways in which these Russian ambitions might be furthered. The first is simple military expansion; the crossing of the Iranian, Turkish or Greek borders with men and guns. This possibility can never be entirely ruled out, but most experienced observers are convinced that it is increasingly unlikely. Whether most Americans realize it or not, the rulers in the Kremlin are undoubtedly fully conscious that the new American policy of aid to Greece and Turkey implies so deep an interest and so deep a commitment in this area that any military move by the Soviets would automatically be followed by military counter-moves by the United States. And the conviction is virtually unaimous that the Russians do not want war.

Soviet's Major Weapon

The second weapon of expansion in the Soviet armory is the political weapon. If one or two key states in this region should come under the control of the Communist party or its equivalent (like the Tudeh party in Iran) the effect would be exactly equivalent to Russian military occupation. It is undoubtedly upon this weapon that the Soviets in future intend largely to reply. Whereas the attempt to capture Iran was essentially military, the attempt to capture Greece was essentially political. Moreover, as recently reported in this space, the Soviet political net in the Middle East has lately been revamped and greatly improved.

There is no use blinking the fact that in using their political weapon the Soviets have very real advantages. States which have absolutely no tradition of political democracy, in which the vast majority is illiterate, and in which the mass of the people live at an utterly miserable level of life, are obviously Communist happy hunting grounds. As long as the animals in many parts of the Middle East continue to lead richer and more rewarding lives than the people, so long will the Soviets enjoy their great political opportunity. For the Soviets stand for change in an area where change is necessary and inevitable. The fact that the change which they promote would merely lead to an exploitation more ruthless and pervasive than the Middle Eastern landlords have yet attempted (if the experience of Azerbaijan is any criterion) hardly alters the case.

Picture of Dilemma

It is this which confronts the Western powers with their dilemma. One powerful British official summed it up when he remarked: "We can't organize a revolution against the corrupt ruling class. We don't operate that way. Yet in the long run only really determined social reforms will prevent a blow-up. The politicians always heartily agree that reforms are necessary, but if specific measures are introduced, they get all red in the face and look as though they were going to strangle. And when the blow-up does come it is pretty sure to be a pro-Soviet blow-up." That in a nutshell, is the Western dilemma.

There is no easy way out of it. Dollars are not the answer, although dollars are an essential weapon in the contest. But to pour dollars, with no strings attached, into most countries in this area would be merely to shore up the power of the tiny and corrupt ruling classes, increasing the awful economic disparity which already exists. Peace cannot be bought by dollars alone.

The contest now in progress between the Soviet Union and the West is essentially a contest of ideas, here as throughout the world.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The World and Charlie's Pants

The ban on laughs in the movies is now complete. Charlie Chaplin has discarded all the properties and routines that made millions roar for thirty years. He's caught, so to speak, with his pants gone And worse. Without the tight vest, the ragged coat, the funny derby and the old shoes.

* * *

We regard this as one of the most significant happenings of the day, eclipsing, in a way, seemingly bigger matters at Moscow. When the baggy pants of Charlie Chaplain disappear from the world scene laughter takes a runout. It is a depressing development in world trends. Those trousers were an institution, a symbol of good fun, an influence on the course of human events

* * *

Personally, we would rather see the Dardanelles fall, even the Mediterranean, than those Chaplin pants.

* * *

His battered derby was something to be held to as firmly as the Bosporus. We would no more surrender his old shoes than surrender Gibraltar.

* * *

We think the abandonment of his trick walking stick is something the United Nations might take up, fighting for its return as a contribution to the peaceful world of yesterday.

* * *

Whether you like Chaplain off the screen or not, his pants had a place in the world picture. No pants in all history were as famous, not excepting the ones in Mrs. Murphy's chowder.

* * *

But in his new movie, "Monsieur Verdoux," Charlie has switched to a smart wardrobe, a $35 fedora, patent leather shoes. He has turned from the role that made millions laugh and cry, the part of the wistful little man who was everybody's victim. He has scrapped the under-dog rags-to-riches character that indeared him in countless homes, and chosen—of all things—to play a wife murderer!

* * *

This is in itself alarming in that it shows another gain for crime in the entertainment world.

* * *

Charlie Chaplain as a de luxe Bluebeard, finding his fun in a sordid tale of a French wholesale slayer of women, and trying to make us laugh! Fancy that! It wouldn't surprise us now if Harold Lloyd did "Custer's Last Fight," and it developed that W. C. Field's posthumous picture will be "The Murderers of the Rue Morgue."

* * *

It is like seeing the Gold Rush done in evening clothes with an interlude with the FBI. It is like sitting through "Tillie's Punctured Romance" in a mortuary parlor, or beholding "The Kid" running amuck with a poison vial.

* * *

Our heart is heavy. We are deep in gloom Let the Smith brothers abandon their beards now! Let Lydia Pinkham take to the ballet! Nothing can make much difference now.

"THE dancer, charged with the slaying, said Mee made her do painting and cleaning about his yacht. 'Why should I do his dirty work?' she snapped. 'He had a wife for that.'" —News item.

Constant Reader

By TRUMAN TWILL

DEAR EDITOR: Thought I would take my pen in hand and give you a few jabs—to see whether you can still take it, or if you've been needled so often you're like those radio vice presidents.

Seriously, I have a number of things to complain about at this time and will be unable to mention them all in one letter. I notice you are still a pushover for leg art and that all a Hollywood press agent has to do to get his cutie free space in your esteemed publication is undress her and let the cameraman take a mouse-eye view.

I am also disgusted with the way you have turned on your former hero, Lippy Durocher, whose antics got him bounced out of the National League, which I would say is the last straw in humiliation. To hear you newspaper goofs tell it, you'd never guess who helped build up Durocher to giant-killing proportions, or have you forgotten he's your publicity baby?

I am also sick at my stomach about the way you are picking on Henry Wallace, whose only crime as I see it is in refusing to quit saying what everybody said during the war—that afterward the winners had better understand each other or bust themselves trying. Is there any crime in that, outside the press I mean?

Another thing I have noticed, which doesn't surprise me, is that most newspapers I see have decided atomic energy isn't as newsy as the latest murder or sex scandal, so they're going back hot and heavy to the old rubbish, playing everything down to the level of the ape man. In other words, dear editor, newspapers end up by reflecting the intelligence or lack of it in their own personnel, hay?

Furthermore, I wonder where you knuckleheads learned grammar and please do not let me hear you complaining that the public school system is exclusively to blame for the galloping illiteracy rampant among us. Newspapers have as much effect on the young and impressionable as any other kind of education—and you should be ashamed of yourselves.

I also continue to see things in your advertising that make me blush with shame for your bad taste and, what is worse, for your careless and perhaps callous disregard of the truth. Take it from a subscriber who's been with you a long time, Buster—longer than you have—that the advertising in a well-edited newspaper is supposed to be well-edited too.

I don't know whether you birds have a vice president, or whether he's sensitive to what people say about him, but I'm taking this means to find out. If you cut off my subscription for talking out of turn, I'll know my clowning is as offensive as that of the clowns who discovered radio vice presidents were sacred cows. This is a great country, it's a great life and we have a lot of fun, don't we?

Bogart opened the meeting with prayer and for roll call the members told the number of calls made during the month. Mrs. Grace Ramsey an Mrs. J. W. Turpin were guests.

Devotions by Mrs. Ida Longshore were followed by a study of the second chapter of the study book, "Our Country Is India," conducted by Mrs. H. S. Ruhl. During the social hour Mrs. Ramsey and Mrs. Turpin assisted the hostess in serving refreshments.

Message of Easter Season

A Sermonette

By REV. HENRY SCHAEFFER, Ph.D.

Pastor of St. Paul's English Lutheran Church.

Mark 16 6—"He is risen"

John 20 25—"We have seen the Lord."

WE ARE still in the Easter season, and what is the message of the season? It is this, that Christ rose from the dead and that He was seen for some days by a wide variety of competent witnesses. Who are some of the witnesses and what is the nature of their experience?

The risen Jesus says to Mary Magdalene, "You must not cling to Me so." This suggests that the risen body of Jesus could be touched and held on to with a feeling of reality.

The news of Christ's resurrection was regarded as an idle tale by the eleven disciples. Men like Peter and John wanted to see for themselves before they would believe what they had heard from Mary Magdalene and the other women.

The two disciples then hastened to the tomb. They were now convinced that Jesus had risen from the dead when they saw the orderly arrangement of the grave clothes still lying there in the same spiral form in which they had been wrapped about the body and head of Jesus. The tightly wrapped embalming cloth had been undisturbed and lay in its original position as if the body of Jesus were still lying in the tomb.

That evening the risen Jesus appeared to the ten disciples, the doors being shut. This shows that the resurrected body of Jesus was different from an earthly body, for He could penetrate closed doors. But to convince them that He was the real Christ they had known, He showed them His pierced hands and His wounded side. They were glad when they saw the Lord.

Thomas was not present on this occasion. When the other disciples told him they had seen the risen Lord, he would not believe it until he had actually touched the risen Christ. This wish was granted the following Sunday by Jesus when He says to Thomas, "Reach hither thy finger and see My hands; put out your hand and place it in My side; do not be faithless but believing."

Whether he actually touched Jesus or not is not expressly stated. At any rate the evidence is so overwhelming that Thomas cries out, "My Lord and my God." Thomas, however is reproved for not wanting to accept the evidence of competent witnesses. The resurrection appearances of Jesus are not to be repeated indefinitely and the time is at hand when all believers will have to be satisfied with the evidence of the resurrection submitted by faithful witnesses. To these witnesses should be added the testimony of St. Paul in I Corinthians 15.

The evidence of Christ's resurrection which Paul submits to the Corinthians is worth pondering. His whole gospel is based not on a dead Christ but on the resurrection which alone gives meaning to His death on the Cross.

The resurrection, he says, is well attested: The risen Christ was seen by Peter. He was seen by the Twelve. He was seen by over 500 Christian brethren. He was seen by James the brother of Jesus. He was seen by all the apostles and missionaries of the early church. And last of all, He was seen by Paul himself.

The appearance of the risen Christ to Paul near the gates of Damascus is the last in a series of resurrection appearances. These appearances will not be repeated for the special benefit of skeptical people. The evidence submitted by so many competent witnesses should be enough to convince any candid person of the truth of Christ's resurrection.

The death of Jesus is different from that of ordinary mortals. God breaks through our mortality and brings life and immortality to light in the gospel of Christ's resurrection. The Church is founded upon this faith in the risen Lord. This gospel of the resurrection has been committed to the Church. By a living faith in the living Christ and by the reception of the sacraments of Baptism and of the Lord's Supper we receive everlasting life and salvation.

VACATION CHURCH SCHOOL INSTITUTE TO BE MAY 4

Howard Hamlin Will Discuss Subject at Salem Church.

Plans are nearing completion for a vacation Church School institute sponsored by the Marion County Council of Churches Sunday afternoon, May 4, at Salem Evangelical and Reformed church. The meeting, set originally for tomorrow, was postponed a week in order to obtain the desired speaker.

Howard Hamlin of the state department of education, head of the division on alcohol and narcotics, will discuss the way the vacation school can instruct children in how to face this problem later in life. Miss Eletha Rogers, supervisor of weekday religious education in the schools of Richwood and neighboring towns, will talk on the "Curriculum of the Vacation Church School," and Miss Lydia Ebel of the Marion weekday religious education program will lead a worship service at the close of the institute. A display of books, pictures, crafts, visual aids, and other helps in religious education instruction will be shown.

In charge of arrangements is the religious education committee of the Council of Churches composed of Miss Margaret Huffman, E. L. Cleveland, F. H. LeMaster, J. W. Baker, D. T. Mills, U. A. Nystrom, Harold Patrick and Arlie Porter.

Church To Receive New Members Sunday

Tomorrow, baptism and reception of new members will be a part of the morning service in Epworth Methodist church. A special speaker at the Young People's Fellowship meeting at 8:45 p. m. at "Our House" will be A. T. Allen, visiting teacher of the public schools. He will talk on "Causes of Delinquency," George Roest will preside. At Intermediate Fellowship at 5 p. m., Eugene Winters will speak and Marilyn Guy will preside. For High School Fellowship at 6:30, James Rea will preside, Richard Kennedy will speak on "Why I Am a Methodist," and Mrs. Kennedy will sing.

A called meeting of the quarterly conference of Epworth church will be held Monday at 8 p m. to discuss redecorating and remodeling of the church. Plans have been made for a church meeting Monday night, May 5, in connection with the regular official board session.

Troop No. 3, Boy Scouts, of Epworth church will make a final paper collection by truck next Saturday.

Strictly speaking, only the male of the species should be called a peacock. The female is a peahen.

Group Will Attend Fostoria Conference

Sunday afternoon and evening there will be a young people's conference for the eastern section of the Church of the Brethren district of northwestern Ohio, at the Fostoria Church of the Brethren. Young people from six churches will attend. Approximately 20 young people from the local church expect to be present. Miss Maryann Borland, of the local congregation, is in charge of conference arrangements. The program will consist of worship, addresses, recreation and fellowship.

Church To Mark Heidelberg Day

In line with observance by Evangelical and Reformed churches of this area of Heidelberg college day on one of the three Sundays following Easter, First Evangelical and Reformed church here will have a special service tomorrow morning.

Dr. Charles M. Prugh, dean of men at Heidelberg college, Tiffin, will speak. During World War II, he was a chaplain, serving with the army in New Guinea, Luzon and Korea. He attended Heidelberg college at Tiffin, the Princeton theological seminary in New Jersey, and continued his studies at Heidelberg university in Germany and at Edinburgh university, Scotland. At one time he was a pastor at Decatur, Ind.

Heidelberg college has launched an extended endowment and development program for the next three years, culminating in 1950, when the college will celebrate its centennial, Rev. E. H. Wierth, pastor here, said. Evangelical and Reformed churches in Ohio and neighboring states are taking part in this campaign which has as its goal the raising of $1,000,000, and First church of Marion has adopted its quota for participation in the campaign, he said.

Mrs. Utz Will Speak At Mother-Daughter Banquet

Mrs. Lester Utz of New Washington, will be a guest speaker for a mother-daughter banquet to be held Wednesday evening in the First Evangelical and Reformed church, under the sponsorship of the Women's guild. All women of the congregation are invited to attend the dinner and program which is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock.

Plan for Expansible Home Provides for Needs of Growing Family

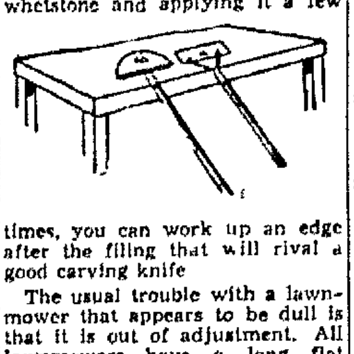
YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

Less than five years ago it was possible to hire a gardener to take care of your grounds for a small fee. He would spend a full day or two in the spring doing a general clean-up job, and usually work a half-day a week keeping the grounds in shape during the summer months. Today, such a man's wage runs from six to eight dollars a day, and the amount of work done appears to be far less than it used to be. Many householders are taking care of their own grounds and becoming familiar with the technique of handling turf-edgers, weed-scrapers, rakes, spades and lawnmowers. Many of them have a fairly good idea of how the various jobs should be done, but they find it hard work. The chief reason for this is that the professional grounds-keeper or gardener keeps his tools in prime shape because he knows that it makes his work easy, while the amateur tries to do the same work with dull or improperly adjusted tools. Fifteen cents spent for an eight-inch, flat, medium-fine file, and 25 cents for a flat whetstone, will give any one the equipment needed to keep all garden tools in professional condition.

The average person believes that a sharp axe is a dangerous thing, but as a matter of fact it is far safer than a dull axe. When you swing a sharp axe at the root of a shrub, it bites where you direct it, while a dull axe is apt to glance off a tough surface.

An axe should be sharpened by laying it flat on a table or bench so that the edge of the blade hangs over the edge of the table about an inch. The flat file is then applied with even strokes in the same manner as you would sharpen a pencil. The axe should be turned so that both sides of the edge receive the same filing. Turf-edgers and weed-scrapers are sharpened by setting the end of the handle on the floor and having the blade just above the edge of the table so that it can be filed to an edge. By wetting the whetstone and applying it a few times, you can work up an edge after the filing that will rival a good carving knife.



The usual trouble with a lawnmower that appears to be dull is that it is out of adjustment. All lawnmowers have a long flat lower blade which should be in close contact with the revolving blades. You will find adjustment screws at both ends of the straight blade which will enable you to tilt it up closer to the revolving blades or tilt it away from them. Most lawnmowers are self-sharpening when they are properly adjusted. If the blades do seem dull however, they can be sharpened with the file without removing them.

Sharp tools will make outdoor work more of a pleasure than a chore, and they will enable you to do better work with less effort.

Farm Council Meets

CRESTLINE — "Price Control and Lower Prices" was the topic for discussion when Farm Bureau Council No 1 of Sandusky township met Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs L. L. Rinehart. Group singing and lunch followed business. Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Rader will entertain the group for the next meeting May 16.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C WHITMAN—

Kitchen Floor

Q. The floors in my bungalow are distinctly "lively." I would like to cover the kitchen and bathroom floors, but cannot afford linoleum or other such coverings. I have heard that there is a powder preparation to be applied about a half-inch thick that might serve my purpose. Do you know anything about this material.

A: I believe you refer to a magnesite flooring. The names of firms handling this material can be obtained from the Architects Samples Exhibit, 101 Park Avenue, New York, 17 (non-commercial organization). But if your wood floors are "lively," it would be well to stiffen them by placing cross-bridging between the floor joists.

Tar on Shirt

Q: Can tar be washed out of a shirt?

A: Spread lard, butter or cooking oil over the stain to soften the tar, and after an hour or so, scrape off as much tar as you can with the back of a knife. Sponge with a non-inflammable liquid spot remover, then wash in the usual way.

* * *

Basement Floor Paint

Q. I am having trouble keeping paint on my basement floor. I have used different paints and sealers according to directions but none has been very good. Could you recommend something for me?

A. You probably used the wrong kind of paint for your purpose. An ordinary oil paint will not last on a concrete floor that is laid directly on the earth in the usual way. Before doing anything more the present falling paint should be entirely cleaned off. Scrub it with a hot solution of either trisodium phosphate (large paint store) or washing soda, three pounds to the gallon of hot water. This should soften the paint so that you can scrape it off. Follow by scrubbing with more of the solution, and when clean, rinse very completely and thoroughly with clear water. You will need a special, rubber floor base paint. An alternative and satisfactory finish for your floor would be a covering of asphalt tile. This tile is moisture resistant and comfortable underfoot.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

By The Associated Press

Suitable for a 50-foot suburban lot, this house of contemporary styling designed by Walter T. Anicka, Ann Arbor, Mich., is his plan No. 710. Two bedrooms and a large living room-dining area are on the first floor. The upper floor is planned for future development. Two bedrooms and bath there would meet the needs of a growing family. Exterior construction is wide clapboard siding and a roof of dark asphalt shingles. A first-floor terrace makes provision for a second-floor sun deck and a massive chimney lends solidity.

75 Per Cent of People Are Still Superstitious

Hal Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK—A Polish devil [illegible] says many people are [illegible]ng to magic as part of the [illegible]ern escapist trend.

"[illegible] least seventy-five per cent [illegible] people are still superstitious," said Count S. Colonna Walewski, whose small "esoterica" [illegible] in Manhattan's exclusive [illegible] place section contains 20,000 occult and [illegible] curios. They range from a Tibetan devil [illegible] to a [illegible] metal ring for rheumatism.

"Psychologically superstition is necessary to most people," said Walewski, "it gives them confidence—strangely—or it gives them a chance to [illegible] they can get power in their [illegible].

"It is pure escapism. People who don't have a happy life, who feel they are misunderstood or surrounded by problems too heavy for them, turn to occultism and mysticism. This gives them a way of escape."

Put Faith In Charms

Through charms and amulets they hope to make their dreams come true. Most popular among east side fashionable people today are Egyptian scarabs—traditionally suposed to endow the wearer with long life and wisdom.

Walewski will sell you a genuine scarab for $5 to $200 but won't guarantee it will make you wise.

"You cannot say they actually work magic—it's against the law," he said, smiling. "It's all—how do you say it?—it is all alleged."

The count, a gray-haired Buddha-shaped connoisseur with the largest library on demonology in America, came here in 1916 as an inspector of munitions for the Russian Czarist government. He remained and invested in the occult.

Sells To Museums

He sells largely to museums, medical libraries and private collectors. But a surprisingly large number of ordinary citizens drop in to buy $5 frog images and other ageold symbols of virility.

"It's a good thing—if it helps people mentally," he said. "Everything, after all, is mental with human beings."

Walewski thinks the human race will never outgrow placebos—the medical term for harmless substances given patients to make them feel better in their minds, sugar or bread pills.

"In the 18th century they used to swallow a powder made from dried Egyptian mummies," he said. "Now they take bicarbonate of soda. It's all the same."

Walewski stocks many trinkets employed in the "black religion" of Tibetan monks, including an apron of 200 human bones, a trumpet made from a human thighbone and a drum made from the skulls of an eight-year-old boy and an eight-year-old girl.

Has Nice Sound

"Nice sound—yes?" he said, thumping the drum.

On one side of his shop he has some fifty devil masks of different religions. On the other are ranged about the same number of saints.

"There is good and bad in everything," he said. "The saints and devils get along together fine. After all, most gods of one religion become the devils of the religion that takes its place."

Walewski is currently out of iron chastity belts, invented by knights to keep their fair ladies faithful while they hied away on crusades. He also recently sold his last iron mask for garrulous wives.

It was painted red and had a long nose. A funnel forced into the female gossip's laws enabled her to whistle but prevented her from talking.

"It was a wonderful thing," said Walewski, pleasantly. "It still would be good to have some around handy."

Yes, he's superstitious himself and carries three good luck charms at all times.

"Makes me feel better—psychologically."

How Ohio Congressmen Voted on Roll Calls

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26—How Ohio members of congress were recorded as voting on roll calls this week:

SENATE:

On passage, 67 to 23, of Greek-Turkish loan bill: Taft (R), for; Bricker (R), against.

On confirmation, 36 to 31, of nomination of Gordon R Clapp to be a member of TVA board of directors: Bricker, against; Taft, not voting.

HOUSE:

On resolution citing Leon Josephson of New York for contempt of committee on un-American activities and directing U S. district attorney to proceed against him, agreed to 365 to 2: all for except Brown, who recorded as not voting.

LABOR SOLONS RALLY TO SOFTEN MEASURE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 26 — A group of determined senators rallied around the pending labor bill today to fight every amendment which would make it tougher on unions.

Senator Ellender (D-La), who wants the measure passed as it stands, said "we've got a chance to beat them."

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), who supports four amendments, countered with "I rather think we've got the votes."

Taft rejected the argument of the other group that a presidential veto of the general labor bill may hinge on the outcome of the senate debate. He said the amendments are not "vital" enough to change the President's mind one way or the other.

As for a suggestion by some senators that President Truman be consulted on the legislation, Taft said·

"I don't see that it would do much good."

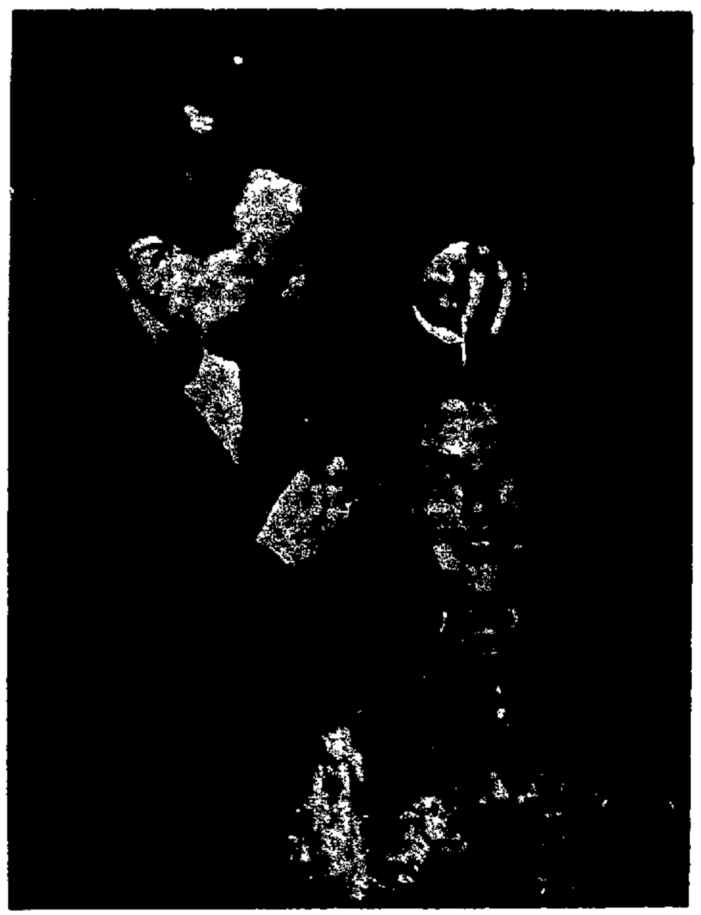
He added he has no idea what the President may do, "But I am convinced that if he is going to veto a stronger bill, he would veto the present senate bill too."

The two senators were interviewed before Taft went into a meeting of the nine-man senate Republican policy committee, of which he is chairman, to discuss plans for getting the amendments through the senate next week.

The debate will be resumed Monday and will probably last all week and longer.

MARYSVILLE RITES SET

MARYSVILLE — Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon at St. John's Lutheran church near this city for Philip Kasper, 77, who died suddenly Thursday afternoon following a heart attack. He is survived by his wife, the former Clara Rausch; a son, Walter Kasper and a daughter, Mrs Albert Mayer, both of near this city. Two brothers and five sisters also survive.



THE CANYON HAIR-DO—Jinx Falkenberg gets the "Steve Canyon" hair-do here straight from the feed bag—the originator, The Marian Star comic page artist, Milton Caniff. Seems as though when Milt endowed his comic strip hero with contrasting hair colors he started something. The International Beauty Convention introduced it in New York a few days ago as the hair-do of the year. The gals go for it but good.

EXTEND STEEL PACTS TO 250,000 WORKERS

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, April 26—Nearly a quarter million steel workers and their employers today were covered by agreements calling for pay raises of about 12½ cents an hour plus some fringe items.

The contract between the CIO-United Steel Workers and the United States Steel Corp. For 140,000 workers in the firm's five subsidiaries appeared once again to be setting the pattern for the industry.

First into the fold were Bethlehem Steel Corp. with 70,000 employes; Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., 14,000 and Weirton Steel Co., 12,000.

Bethlehem and Youngstown had not yet signed contracts but had agreed with the CIO-Steel Workers on basic terms, with details to be ironed out. Weirton steel had signed with the Weirton Independent union for a 12¼ cents hourly across-the-board raise. With a minimum rate of $1.16½ an hour.

Two fabricators had reached agreement with the CIO union.

At Kansas City, Shefleld Steel Corp. announced an increase of 12½ cents for the 2,300 workers in its Kansas City plant and 15½ cents for 1,600 in its Houston, Tex., plant. The extra three cents at Houston went to nullify a wage differential previously in effect in the south.

The other fabricator was Copperweld Steel Corp. at Glassport, Pa., which agreed to raise wages 12½ cents an hour for its 1,000 employes.

At Chicago, Inland Steel Co., one of the basic producers, offered its 14,350 workers a 12½ cent hourly pay raise if they "will accept clauses designed to assure union responsibility." Union officials were not immediately available for comment.

Early Tensions Called Key to Labor Strife

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 26—Donald E. Wray, University of Cincinnati sociology instructor, declared today labor-management troubles can be eased, even averted, by recognizing tensions and dissatisfactions which precede industrial crises

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Ohio Valley Sociological association, Wray reported findings of research he did with the committee on human relations in industry at the University of Chicago.

"By and large," he said, "industry has failed to recognize the tensions which arise before the 'breaking point' in industrial strife. And in cases where future trouble is recognized, it is ignored.

"Both management and labor are at fault in this respect."

Mother's Bravery Saves Child, Costs Own Life

By The Associated Press

PORTSMOUTH, O, April 26—The bravery which enabled a 37-year-old mother to save the life of her two-year-old daughter caused her death yesterday

Deputy Sheriff Burl Justice disclosed Mrs. Gwendolyn Spradlin of nearby Rubyville, O., was burned critically yesterday when she was trapped in her flaming home. She died in a Portsmouth hospital.

Justice said Mrs. Spradlin was carrying her daughter, Judy Ann, downstairs when flames forced her back to the second floor. The mother shielded the baby with her own body and crawled out on a porch roof, from where she was helped down by her husband, Rafe Spradlin.

Spradlin and two other children, Gerald, 11, and Donald, 15, escaped injury. Judy Ann was not burned seriously.

Russia's "Voice" Has Oxford Ring in UN Security Council

By LARRY HAUCK
Associated Press Writer

Robert D. Hogg

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., April 26—The "Voice of Russia" in the United Nations security council is a 40-year-old Englishman who never has set foot on Soviet soil.

To Robert Daniel Hogg, a graduate of Oxford, generally falls the task of interpreting the speeches of Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko, Russia's council delegate.

The bespectacled Englishman, one of the veterans of the UN's staff of some 30 official interpreters, can speak eight languages but it is his rendition of Gromyko's Russian into English which commands major attention.

Hogg considers Gromyko easy to interpret because of slow and precise language and clarity of thinking.

"We interpreters take a great pride in our work," Hogg said. "To do a good job we must sympathize with the views of the man for whom we speak. We must get the same feeling and force into the interpretation that he puts into his delivery.

"Why, sometimes I deliver speeches directed against my own government. But we must put aside personal feelings. To lose the force and logic of a delegate's address in interpreting would lessen its effect on listeners."

International interpreting is almost a science and comes easily only to those with an excellent memory, a thorough background in history and a command of languages.

Hogg jots down key words in a sentence. Then by following closely the trend of the speaker's thoughts and dipping into a vast personal background in international affairs, he is able to put the words into another language with an exactness that amazes.

Before a man or a woman starts, he or she must know English and French, the UN's two working languages After that the interpreters pick up as many as possible.

Because of a constant shortage of competent interpreters, these specialists never need worry about jobs. Their average salary in the UN runs around $8,000, tax free, plus allowances.

Housecleaning Nets Ohio Man $12,000 For Day's Effort

By The Associated Press

CHARDON, O., April 26—Spring housecleaning was considered a worthy enterprise today by Asher Hill, 70-year-old resident of nearby Chester — for a day of rummaging in his attic netted him the tidy sum of $12,000.

Opening a small, moldy suitcase in the attic of his residence yesterday, Hill's eyes popped when the $12,000 stack of old-style large bills popped out of the traveling bag.

The money was the property of Corwin Stockham, 72-year-old brother-in-law of Hill, who died three weeks ago Working for years as a day laborer, Stockham was considered by his friends "a frugal man," and never marreld, Hill said

"Had I known all that money was in the house, I wouldn't have slept a wink," Hill added.

ELIAS G. GORENFLO CLAIMED BY DEATH

Illness of Three Months Fatal to Marion Man.

Elias G. Gorenflo, 72, a resident of 140½ North Main street, died in City hospital early today after an illness of three months. He had been at the hospital one day.

Born March 21, 1875, in Upper Sandusky, he was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Gorenflo. He married Amy Rennert in Marion in 1907. She preceded him in death. A guard at the Marion Power Shovel Co. he worked for the company almost 45 years. He was a member of the German Lutheran church at Upper Sandusky and of the Eagles lodge here.

Surviving are daughters, Mrs. Phyllis Blair of 464 West Center street and Mrs. Alma Baughman of near Cardington, and five sisters, Mrs. Isabelle McClung of Marion, Mrs. Emma Snyder of Detroit, Mich., Mrs Rhoda Hoppenburg of Findlay, Mrs. Ida Culver of Upper Sandusky, and Mrs. Jane Katzue of Milwaukee, Wis.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2 p. m. in the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street by Rev. Albert M. Hood, pastor of Second Pilgrim Holiness church. Burial will be Marion cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7 tonight.

Firemen Receive First Call in Nearly a Week

Firemen, after almost a week of inactivity, were given a workout last night. They were called to the home of Elmer Massie on Emerson avenue near Fairground street at 8:54 to extinguish a blaze. Clothes drying on a line in front of a stove became ignited. Property loss was estimated at about $75.

The last call that firemen had made prior to this fire was last Sunday. Fire Chief Owen A. Sifritt says this is not a record for fireless days in Marion but is one of the better marks in recent years.

Dr. Sifritt Honored By LaRue Masons

DR. N. SIFRITT

* * *

Special to The Star

LARUE—Dr. N. Sifritt, Marion county health commissioner, was given a 50-year medal and pin at a special communication of the LaRue lodge 403 F. and A. M. Wednesday evening.

Dr. Sifritt became a master Mason April 23, 1897. He become worship master of the lodge in 1898 and served until 1901. Dr. Harry Southard, Logan county health commissioner, was principal speaker. Dr. Sifritt discussed his term as master of the lodge nearly 50 years ago and the history of the group. The presentation of the 50-year medal and pin was made by Dr. Harry A. Hoopes of LaRue on behalf of the Ohio Grand lodge.

During the meeting the past masters of the order served at the stations of the regular officers. They were J. William Campbell, Floyd L. Topliff, Earl Ballinger, Maurice Clements, Dr. J. C. Thuma, LeRoy Thew, Damon B. Jones, Merle Lingo, Asa McCreary, Alton Cook and Alvin LaRue.

The welcome address was given by Harold L. Robinson, present master of the lodge. William Campbell responded to the welcome.

Among the guests introduced by Dr. J. C. Thuma were Mike and Wilbur Phelps of Urbana, LeRoy Walker of Bowling Green, Dr. Guy T. Wasson of Bucyrus, Crawford county health commissioner who started the study of medicine under Dr. Sifritt.

Also on the program were Wayne Hoagland and James McGuire of LaRue who received their degrees while Sifritt was master of the longe between 1898 and 1901. Lunch was served to 65 members and guests by the Mary Lenox chapter of Eastern Star.

UN MAPS PLANS FOR PALESTINE SESSION

55 Countries To Assemble at New York Tomorrow.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26—Official delegations and interested groups mapped last-minute strategy today for handling the explosive Holy Land problem as representatives of 55 countries converged on New York for the special Palestine session of the United Nations assembly which opens Monday.

The five major powers took the lead by agreeing on a slate of officers for the session which gets under way at Flushing Meadow park at 10 a. m. Monday. Under the five-power agreement one of the vice presidencies would go to either India or the Philippines with India reported to have the edge.

Slated to furnish the chairmen of the six assembly committees were Egypt, Canada, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Mexico and Sweden.

In a flurry of last-minute moves, Argentina announced she would propose the creation of an 11-member committee to inquire into the Palestine situation.

"Dear Ruth" on Palace Stage Scores Hit with Theatergoers

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The comedy, "Dear Ruth," scored a decided hit with Marion theatergoers Friday night on the Palace stage. Presented by a cost completely at home in their roles, the players made the most of the comedy in what is in reality an uncoming situation, and the near capacity audience thoroughly enjoyed the entertainment.

The time is a weekend in September, 1944, and the setting the home of Judge and Mrs. Wilkins in Columbia Heights, N. Y. The plot develops and difficulties mount when "Miriam," a high school senior at 16, under the impact of war is inspired to do something for her country and writes impassioned letters to a boy in service, signing her older sister's name. His sudden return complicates matters and the confusion grows as "Dear Ruth," engaged to Albert, a circumspect gentleman in a bank where both are employed, decides to go along with his plans for the weekend.

Accomplished Musician

"Ruth," played by Audrey Swanson, in private life is the wife of William Remick, who was seen in the role of "Judge Wilkins," and who also is the manager of the show. In addition to being a versatile actress, Miss Swanson is a musician and for three years was a featured artist with Phil Spitalny's orchestra. She left moving pictures to return to the legitimate stage for roles in "Junior Miss" and Saroyan's "Time of Your Life."

Robert Van Hooten, seen in the role of "Albert," played a character part in "The Hasty Heart," and has been seen in "Life With Father," "Kiss and Tell" and other Broadway hits.

William Remick has played the role of Judge Wilkins more than 200 times in the Chicago and touring companies and has also played the fathers in "Junior Miss," "Janie" and "Kiss and Tell."

"Bill," the young lieutenant, was played by Robert Cowell, is playing his first engagement since his separation from the Army Air Corps with the rank of lieutenant. Ruth Cummings as Mrs. Wilkins, is no stranger to the stage, having played a child performance with Lenore Ulric in "Kiki," and supporting parts with the late John Barrymore and Maurice Evans in their productions of "Hamlet."

Plays Brat Roles

Jeanne Flannigan, as "Miriam," at 16 has specialized in "brat" roles, having portrayed the role in "Tomorrow the World" and Linah Lord in "The Philadelphia Story."

Marie Lehmann, "Martha," the lieutenant's sister, has a background of a radio career and was in the New York company of the "Children's Hour" and the road company of "Janie." Tony Albert, "Chuck," has played in stock in the east with "Boy Meets Girl," "The Barker" and others. Lurlean Smaulding, "Dora" the maid, was discovered in Chicago while working with a Colored Theater group and was given a role in the Chicago company of "Anna Lucasta."

All the men in the company served in the armed forces in World War II.

The company has been on tour since last October and will close the season in two weeks. "We all hope to be home by Mother's day," Mr. Remick said last night. They came to Marion from Altoona, Pa., and will play their next engagement in York, Pa.

While the house was not completely sold out for last night's performance, it was an audience which registered approval by bringing the cast back for curtain calls at the end of the show.

Circle No. 2 Meets At Clevenger Home

Mrs. Frank Erwin, Mrs. Bess Williams and Mrs. A. Morey were associate hostesses when Circle No. 2 of the W. S. C. S. of Epworth Methodist church met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. R. C. Clevenger on South Prospect street. Mrs. R. W. Kauble, president, was in charge of the meeting which opened with group singing. Mrs. Helen Lawrence conducted the devotions, basing her theme on the Eighth chapter of Romans. The members reported 139 calls made during the month and gifts were contributed for the Southside Settlement in Columbus, a project of the circle. A study of "India" was conducted by Mrs. Earl Wittmer. Mrs. A. W. Kette gave a talk on group committees. Refreshments were served during a social hour.

Chrysler Wage Pact Believed in Offing

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, April 26 — A second wage agreement in the auto industry's "Big Three," covering Chrysler's 75,000 production workers, was believed near at hand today.

Negotiators for Chrysler and the CIO United Auto Workers were reported ready to sign a pact in the wake of the general Motors' combined wage boost-holiday pay agreement.

Both company and union sources indicated the Chrysler-UAW agreement was virtually wrapped up.

It was expected to follow closely the precedent of General Motors which granted an 11½ cents basic hourly wage increase and an added 3½ cents for six paid holidays for GM's 220,000 production men.

5 Killed, 7 Injured In Georgia Bus Accident

By The Associated Press

MADISON, Ga., April 26—Five persons were killed and seven injured last night when a Southern Stages bus and a truck sideswiped at the bride over Little river near here.

Trooper C W. Fuller of the state highway patrol said all the dead and injured were bus passengers. The bus was en route from Macon to Athens, Ga.

Two of the dead were identified by a funeral home as Joe Ellis Mundy Jr., about 22, son of the U. S. district attorney in Atlanta, and James Allen Dowling, about 25 of Hoboken, Ga.

Two Accidents Occur At Inn's Driveway

Leaving or entering the driveway of Ira's Inn, located on route 4 a short distance south of Marion, apparently wasn't the safest thing for a motorist to do at about 1 o'clock this morning.

One car was hit from the rear while leaving and another car slowed down to enter a few minutes later and was hit by a hit skip driver.

The first accident occurred when Sidney Spurlock, 31, of route 3 Richwood, drove his automobile onto the highway. A car driven by Frank Butterworth of 616 North Greenwood street rammed the Spurlock machine from the rear causing it to leave the road and crash into a light pole. Butterworth and a passenger in his car, Miss Jean Campbell of 633 North Greenwood street were taken by Boyd and Uncapher ambulance to City hospital where they were treated for minor cuts and released.

The other accident occurred when a car driven by Lester Smothers, 31, of route 1 Peoria, slowed down to enter the drive and was hit from the rear, the other car continuing on its way.

Dates for Horse Show Changed to Sept. 6, 7

Dates fo rthe horseshow, sponsored by the Turf and Tanbark club were changed from Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 to Sept. 6 and 7, at a meeting held by the members Friday night in the Marion club at Hotel Harding. Three shows, Saturday night and Sunday afternoon and night, will be staged, it is planned.

Hosts for the meeting were Paul D. Michel and William K. Davis. Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Hewetson and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Beringer were enrolled as new members. Plans were made for a trail ride May 18 at the Idle Hour farm. Following the ride in the afternoon there will be a picnic supper and business session. A lunch was served following last night's meeting.

Bowery Boys On Marion Bill

Here Sunday and Monday in "Hard Boiled Mahoney."

"Hard Boiled Mahoney" starring Leo Gorcey, T. Loring and the Bowery Boys, and "Unexpected Guest" with William Boyd as Hopalong Cassidy will be shown Sunday and Monday at the Marion theater.

In the latter, Hopalong Cassidy pitches into a tangled web of mystery and murder while helping his pal, California Carlson, played by Andy Clyde, claim an inheritance.

Billed as a double feature for Tuesday and Wednesday is "When Thief Meets Thief" and "The Invisible Killer." The former stars Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Alan Hale, and heading the cast in the latter are Grace Bradley and William Newell

"The Invisible Killer" tells how three persons are mysteriously slain, one after the other, and how a charming newspaper girl reporter discovers not only the identity of the assassin, but finds out the actual method through which the trio of victims meet their deaths.

"For the Love of Rusty" starring Ted Donaldson and Tom Powers, and "Last Frontier Uprising" with Monte Hale and Adrian Booth will be shown Thursday through Saturday.

The former is the story of a boy's love for his dog, in conflict against the stern dictates of a misunderstanding father. An unusually exciting story of pre-Civil war days in Texas is told in the film, "Last Frontier Uprising."

News of Our Boys

Tech. Sgt. Charles "Bud" Clapsaddle, who has served five years with the U. S Army in India, recently returned to the States with his wife, Evelyn and eight-month-old daughter, Rosslyn Frances. They sailed from Calcutta and landed at Baltimore. Entering the service in September, 1940, he served with the Army Signal Corps. They are now spending T/Sgt Clapsaddle's 60-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs Harry Clapsaddle of 861 Mary street. After the furlough, he will be assigned to another post. T/Spt and Mrs Clapsaddle were married July 16, 1945 in Calcutta

BOB HOPE and Dorothy Lamour, shown above, are co-starred in the new comedy production, "My Favorite Brunette," which opened today at the Palace theater to continue through Tuesday. Featured are Peter Lorre and Lon Chaney.

* * *

Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour Here in "My Favorite Brunette"

Bob Hope and Dorothy Lamour are cast in the starring roles in the new comedy, "My Favorite Brunette," which opened today at the Palace theater for a run through Tuesday. Appearing in featuring supporting roles are Peter Lorre, Lon Chaney, John Hoyt and Charles Dingle

Added attractions showing with the feature are a short, "Radio, Take It Away," a cartoon, "Chick and Double Chick," a This Is America series "Germany Today," and the latest news.

In "My Favorite Brunette," Bob Hope is a victim of mistaken identity, and while unhappily pursuing his trade as a baby photographer is trying to calm a desire to be a private detective. Consequently, when Dorothy Lamour, so excited that she mistakes Hope for the private investigator next door enlists his aid in the search for her missing uncle, Bob grasps at the opportunity.

Mysterious Map Involved

Dorothy entrusts a mysterious map to Hope's care and before he solves his first and last case, Bob tangles with a gang of foreign agents seeking a secret mine, finds himself trapped in an insane asylum and winds up in the death cell at San Quentin, framed on a murder rap.

Wednesday only, Johnny Long and his orchestra will appear on the stage of the theater for both afternoon and evening performances. The screen attraction will be "Fear in the Night" starring Paul Kelly, DeForest Kelley, Ann Doran and Kay Scott

"Fear in the Night," a novel murder-mystery, is a mystery in which the killer is actually innocent of any intent to murder, and tells of a young man who, under some force, kills a man and is then shocked to learn it was not a nightmare. The youth attempts suicide and his detective brother-in-law becomes convinced of his spiritual innocence of the crime

Double Feature

A double feature, "Johnny O'Clock" and "Seven Were Saved," has been billed for Thursday through Saturday. The former stars Dick Powell and Evelyn Keyes, and heading the cast in the latter are Richard Denning, Catherine Craig and Russell Hayden

In "Johnny O'Clock," Dick Powell is seen in the title role of a gambler, who matches wits with the gambling fraternity and the law. When a checkroom girl and her boy friend are found murdered Johnny and his gambling partner are suspected of the deaths by Inspector Koch, played by Lee J Cobb

"Seven Were Saved" deals with the exciting activities of the Rescue Service and is the story of six men and two women adrift on a raft in the Pacific.

Story of Ranch Life at Ohio

"Stallion Road" Now Playing Here Through Thursday; Colman Returns.

"Stallion Road," a dramatic story of horse breeders and ranch life in California, opened Friday at the Ohio theater and is now playing through Thursday. Co-starred are Ronald Reagan, Alexis Smith and Zachary Scott with Peggy Knudsen, Patti Brady and Angela Greene as featured players

The picture based on Stephen Longstreet's best selling novel, tells a story of people who love horses and of a triangle that almost ruined the lives of the three people concerned. Ronald Reagan is presented as veterinarian Larry Hanrhan who owns Stallion Road ranch. When his old friend, Steve Purcell, played by Zachary Scott, vacations at the ranch, they meet and are attracted to Rory Teller, played by Alexis Smith, of the Teller ranch

After several meetings, Steve tells Rory that he has fallen in love with her but Rory is more attracted to Larry. However, Rory becomes furious and turns to Steven when she finds out that another girl, also interested in Larry, is going to ride his horse in the Range show in competition with her.

Marking the return to the screen of Ronald Colman, and introducing the young British star, Peggy Cummins, "The Late George Apley," the filmization of Marquard's Pulitzer Prize novel, opens Friday at the Ohio theater to play for seven days. Appearing in supporting roles are Vanessa Brown and Charles Russell

Ronald Colman is seen as the prim and conservative George Apley who learned about life by way of the "unconventional" romance of his daughter with a Yale, not Harvard, graduate. Peggy Cummins plays the role of Colman's daughter, Eleanor, a dutiful girl but with definite ideas of her own. "The Late George Apley" is a satire on Boston, a subtle comedy about the outlook on life of a stuffy Bostonian

George Raft In "Johnny Angel" Coming To State

"Johnny Angel" starring George Raft and Signe Hasso and "Texas Panhandle" with Charles Starrett and Tex Harding will be shown Sunday and Monday at the State theater

Billed as a double feature for Tueday and Wednesday is "Imitation of Life" and "Inside Job." The former stars Claudette Colbert and Warren Williams, and heading the cast in the latter are Preston Foster and Ann Rutherford

Vera Hruba Ralston and William Marshall play the leading roles in "Murder in the Music Hall," which will be shown Thursday through Saturday as one picture of a double feature. The other film will be "Yellow Rose of Texas" with Roy Rogers and Dale Evans.

MARION CUBS READY FOR OPENER AT LIMA TOMORROW

Locals Primed for Afternoon Tilt Against Traditional Rival

By GEORGE ROEST

Marions Cubs, like the other seven teams in the Ohio State league, are at the barrier and ready for the starter's signal.

Tomorrow is opening day for loop teams. As its first opponent Marion has Lima's Terriers and, provided the elements are co-operative, will play there Sunday and again Monday.

In other opening tilts Muncie will be at Richmond, Dayton will be at Springfield, and Newark will travel to Zanesville.

Scavo	LF	Clay
Burbrink	C	Maisch
Forbes	1B	Sunblad
Hollingshead or Gray	2B	Nichols
Meyers	3B	Kowalsky

Scheduled at 2:30

The Marion at Lima opener is scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m. As the Lima park has been undergoing a grading and working over, it is reported from that city that weather must be good today and tomorrow if the field is to be ready. There is a chance that the starting time will be changed from afternoon to evening and in case of more rain it will have to be postponed to another date.

A crowd of 3,000 is expected at the opener. Before the umpire puts the show on the road with a resounding "Play ball," Lima Mayor William L. Ferguson will go on the mound to pitch against Col. G. W. Vaughn, commanding officer of the Lima Ordnance depot, and Naval Lt. Edward L. Landen of the Lima recruiting station will act as catcher.

Cub Manager Nelson Burbrink thinks the club will do all right in the coming season. He has given the impression he's willing to let action speak louder than words and those who watched him put the locals through spring workouts are looking for Marion to have its best season this year.

Writers Say Fourth

Sportswriters covering the conference have picked Marion to land in fourth position at the end of the season. If they should it would be a finish two positions better than they have ever made. Local observers believe the team will finish at least that high and many of them aren't hesitating to predict they'll finish on an even higher rung.

The Cubs have been in training for three weeks but have been able to utilize only about three-quarters of this time for practices. Despite this, club officials say the team seems to be in better shape for the starting game this season than it has ever been.

Hazen Optimistic

Judge W. Dexter Hazen, president of the club, and one of its most optimistic fans, said, in an interview at the baseball banquet Thursday night the team looks as good now as last year's did at the end of the season.

Marion last season worked through the St. Louis Cardinals' farm system and finished in sixth place in the eight-team league. Deciding they weren't getting enough support, the local organization broke ties with the Cards and hooked up with the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs, they believe, are going to take more interest in how they finish.

Squad Pared Down

The number of players still with the Cubs was pared to 22 yesterday as catcher Chester Luckie and pitcher Gerald Peters were optioned to Radford, Va.

Two more will go before Burbrink is able to send a roster to league headquarters in Columbus.

Weather conditions during the last week of training were at their worst. The Cubs were able to hold only one practice, a light drill at Harding stadium Tuesday. Wednesday night the weather cleared enough for the Cubs to play an exhibition game at Newark. They came home with an 8 to 6 victory under their belts.

Marion Car Entered In Berea Auto Races

A semi-stock racing car, owned by Chevington Motor Sales of Marion, is entered in the first race meet of the season at Berea tomorrow afternoon.

Driver of the auto will be Louie Herold of Lima who drove 18 straight wins on tracks throughout the country last season. The most notable race which he won was the 100-lap Ohio championship at DeGraff, finishing seven laps ahead of his nearest competitor.

Time trials at the track start at 1 p. m. and races are scheduled to get under way at 2. There will be several 10-lap events and the feature race will be for 25 laps. A purse of $1,200 has been put up.

LAST AA TEAMS FALL

Every club in the American association had something in common today — all of them had been beaten at least once. The two undefeated teams fell yesterday, St. Paul knocking off Kansas City 4 to 3 and Milwaukee pounding Minneapolis 10 to 3.

WESLEYAN RELAYS IN SWAN SONG TODAY

1,700 Trackmen Present; Columbus Central Favored.

DELAWARE, O., April 26—A chorus of 1,700 Ohio high school trackmen sang the swan song of the Ohio Wesleyan university relays today.

Even this track and field carnival, however, is under the sponsorship of the Ohio High School Athletic association, for Wesleyan now is on a years' probation pending entrance into the Ohio conference. The conference does not permit continuation of the prep school classic.

Cast as favorite to cop the last of the Wesleyan relays is Columbus Central, surprise winner of the Mansfield relays a week ago.

Cleveland Central and East Tech, second and third place winners at Mansfield, are in the field with powerful squads, however, and Toledo DeVilbiss and New London, last year's A and B victors, must be conceded chances.

All 22 events are on a team basis, with four men from each school participating in the track races and three men in the field events. In the field events, the distances of all three entrants will be added to determine the winner. Track events will all be of the relay type.

Harding, Caledonia, Waldo in Relays

Boys from Harding, Caledonia, and Waldo are entered in the Wesleyan relays.

Caledonia's entries are Gene Fleming, Herb Rogers, Howard Mitchell, Jerry Jaggers, Gene Freel, Paul Drake, Kenny Comstock, John Robertson, Jack Furniss, and Jim Ray.

Dick Loyer, Carl Salyer and Dick Schultz will carry Waldo's standard in the relays.

LEGION BOWLERS IN ACTION

Members of the Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, bowling team will bowl in Columbus tonight in the state bowling tournament singles. Friday night the group bowled in the team event. Members are Charles Kissner, Chester Morris Sr., James Kayatin, Howard Cross, Richard Burklew and Don Bowen.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting, Dick Wakefield, Tigers—homered with one man aboard in last half of eighth to climax a four-run Detroit inning which enabled the Tigers to defeat the St. Louis Browns 6-5.

SPEECHLESS WITH EMOTION and with tear-filled eyes, Babe Ruth leaves the platform after receiving a tremendous ovation from an audience of editors and publishers at the Banshees luncheon in New York. This was the first public appearance of the "great man of baseball" since his return from Florida, where he went to recuperate.

Babe Ruth To Be Honored At All Ball Parks Sunday

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26 — Tomorrow baseball will pay a long-deferred tribute to Babe Ruth, appropriately enough at Yankee Stadium, "The House That Ruth Built."

From coast to coast, even in Latin America and as far off as Japan, fans will celebrate "Babe Ruth Day" in honor of the game's foremost home-run slugger.

Elaborate plans for the observance of the tribute to Ruth, the most dramatic and appealing figure the national pastime has yet produced, were announced yesterday, along with details of an extensive radio broadcast of the occasion with a coast-to-coast hookup.

The celebration will be aired from 2:40 to 3:00 p. m. from the dugout of the New York Yankees and the home plate of the stadium, and will be broadcast as part of similar celebrations in all major league parks, as well as many minor league fields.

In line with the proceedings here, the Japanese Professional Baseball league announced that tomorrow will be "Babu Rusu Day" in Japan. Japanese well remember the Bambino's visit to that country with an American All-Star team in 1931.

The broadcast will feature Ruth, Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler and the presidents of the major leagues, Ford Frick of the National and Will Harridge of the American.

Francis Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of the diocese of New York, and friend and admirer of the Babe for many years, will deliver the invocation and blessing for the home run king's continued good health.

Monday Deadline For Softball Team Entries

Managers who plan to enter teams in a city softball league are reminded by Y.M.C.A. officials that Monday is the last day that entries can be made.

An announcement by the softball commission states teams should be entered at the Y and it is not necessary for a roster of players to be turned in until the entry has been accepted.

The commission meets next Wednesday at the Y to draw up schedules for the summer and to approve entries. Time of the meeting is 7:30 p. m.

Prior to this meeting another session of the umpires' clinic will be held at 6:30. About 10 persons have indicated they wish to handle games this summer and at least five more officials are needed.

LaRue Club Meets

LA RUE—Mrs. Charles Coulter, formerly of LaRue, was hostess to the LaRue Embroidery club at her home in Marion last week. Mrs. Dwight Sager and Mrs. Joe Rizor tied for awards in contest conducted by the hostess. Guests were Mrs. George Pickering, Miss Laura Brady, Mrs. Edwin Shipley and Mrs. Aulton Cook, all of Marion. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. Shipley and Mrs. Cook. Mrs. Coulter was an active member of the club during her residence in LaRue.

LARRY MACPHAIL ON BASEBALL HOT SEAT

Chandler Summons Yankee Head to Office Tuesday.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26—Now it's Larry MacPhail's turn to sizzle on the baseball hot seat while Commissioner A. B. Chandler turns up the burners under the New York Yankee president.

MacPhail, who "blew the whistle" on Manager Leo Durocher of Brooklyn when he filed defamation charges with the commissioner's office, has been summoned to appear before Chandler Tuesday in his Cincinnati office. Dell Webb and Dan Topping, who with MacPhail own the Yankee franchise, also were asked to be present.

However, the hearing probably will be postponed to Wednesday because MacPhail has a previously-scheduled Tuesday meeting with New York City civic leaders on the juvenile delinquency problem.

No reason for the summons was given by Chandler who said yesterday that his office had notified MacPhail by telegram from Cincinnati Monday that he and the other owners were to make a "command" appearance.

It was common knowledge that Chandler was very much upset about MacPhail's violations of his "gag rule" in the Durocher case. The commissioner ordered all principals involved that the subject was a "closed matter" after he suspended the Dodger pilot for the 1947 season. But Larry didn't keep quiet.

Chandler refused any direct comment on the reasons for his summons other than to say, "We will inquire into a number of things. I have been doing investigating while I have been here. We want to get the whole story and we are going to get it."

Informed that the charges he faces might be summed up as insubordination, MacPhail said only, "very interesting, if true."

In a short talk before press and radio men at a dinner announcing the signing of a new contract for World Series and all-star game radio rights, Chandler said "I make my own decisions and I am under no obligation to anybody. I am willing to live and die on the consequences."

Feller and Newhouser Resume Mound Rivalry at Cleveland

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, April 26—Bob Feller and Hal Newhouser continue their battle today for the No. 1 pitching rank in the major leagues as the Cleveland Indians return to Lakefront stadium for the opener of a three-game series with the Detroit Tigers.

Holding a 5-2 edge in the series between the two heralded fireballers, Feller was scheduled to make his first start since his memorable one-hit shutout of the St. Louis Browns at the stadium Tuesday.

The Tribe dropped a 3-2 contest to the Chisox at Comiskey park yesterday to break even in a two-game series.

Al Gettel, ex-New York Yankee, received his first starting assignment against the White Sox but was relieved by Ed Klieman after Chicago tallied single runs in the first three innings for a 3-0 margain.

A pair of hits by outfielder Bob Kennedy and safeties by Luke Appling, Cass Michaels and Taft Wright provided Chicago's game-winning tallies.

Behind the shutout hurling of Klieman and Steve Gromek, the Tribe rallied for two runs in the sixth and threatened to take the verdict in the late frames.

George Metkovich rapped a single, one of his three hits, to start the Indians' rally. Consecutive singles by Manager Lou Boudreau and Les Fleming scored Metkovich, and Boudreau crossed the plate on Appling's error.

Aided by the pinch-hit doubles of Ted Sepkowski and Eddie Robinson, the Tribe pushed runners to third base in the seventh and ninth. However, Manager Lyons juggled relief pitchers Joe Haynes and southpaw Frank Papish to keep the Indians scoreless.

Connie Mack On Top in Trade For Outfielder Binks

By The Associated Press

Venerable Connie Mack, who at times has been accused of unloading star members of his Philadelphia Athletics for monetary gain, apparently has come out on top in the deal that brought George (Bingo) Binks to Shibe Park.

The varsatile Binks was obtained from Washington for pitchers Luman Harris and Luther Knerr last winter and the likeable outfielder currently is batting American league pitching at a .450 pace, which is second only to Senator Buddy Lewis' pace-setting .474.

Meanwhile, Harris has appeared only once on the mound for the Senators and Knerr has yet to make his Washington debut.

Binks, who can lay either first base or the outfield, was used sparingly by the Nats last year and batted a mild .194.

Binks crashed the regular Athletic lineup last Saturday and got one hit in two trips to the plate. Since then he has banged out eight safeties in 17 swings to rank with the top batters in both circuits.

Yesterday, the 175-pound outfielder started the A's off on a five-run ninth-inning rally that enabled the Quakers to clip the defending champion Boston Red Sox, 11-7.

Binks, pinch-hitting for pitcher Bill Dietrich, surprised the Sox by leading off the final frame with a bunt and the A's then sent nine more men to the plate to wrap up the game.

Only two other games were played in the majors. All four National league games and the Washington-New York game at Yankee Stadium were rained out.

The Chicago White Sox nosed out the Cleveland Indians 3-2 to move into a first-place percentage deadlock with the Yanks.

The Detroit Tigers staged a four-run eighth-inning rally that was highlighted by Dick Wakefield's two-run homer to down the St. Louis Browns 6-5.

MORROW BASEBALL TOURNAMENT SET

Special to The Star

MT. GILEAD, April 26—Drawings for the annual Morrow county baseball tournament were made when superintendents of Morrow county schools met this week with county superintendent, F. E. Honnold.

The tournament will be played at the Edison diamond starting May 5. If work is completed on the Cardington field before that date the tourney games will be played at Cardington.

Two games will be played on the first day. Chesterville will meet Johnsville at 2 p. m. and Marengo will play Cardington at 3:30 p. m. On May 7 the winner of the Chesterville-Johnsville game will play Iberia and the winner of the Marengo-Cardington game will play Edison. The finals will be played on May 8.

The county champion will enter the district tournament which will be held at Columbus some time in May.

The superintendents also made plans for school exhibits at the Morrow county fair this August.

Cornish Knight Packs Canada's Derby Hopes

By FRANK ECK

Associated Press Sports Editor

NEW YORK—"I've never trained a Derby horse and now I'm wondering how to go about it. I'll have to ask Ben Jones."

It was A. E. (Bert) Alexandra, trainer of Cornish Knight, talking as the Canadian-owned chestnut colt stuck his nose in a bale of hay in his Aqueduct racetrack stall.

First of a Series

Alexandra, who has been training thoroughbreds since 1922, is hoping for "beginner's luck" when he sends Cornish Knight postward for the 73rd Kentucky Derby to be run Saturday, May 3, at Louisville's famed Churchill Downs.

It was only natural that he should mention Jones as the man who is best suited to give out information on "how to train a Derby horse." Jones has trained three Derby winners and will be shooting for a fourth this time with either Faultless or Fervent—or both.

Likes Winning Habit

What does Alexandra like about Cornish Knight?

"I like him just because he wins," says Alexandra, who once was a jockey. "He's a good, game horse, not much as beauty goes but a long, rangy colt. He has a good disposition—no mean habits."

Alexandra, whose brother George trains for W. W. Adams, Suffolk Downs owner, believes Cornish Knight has a good chance in a wide-open Derby. He was impressed highly with the way the 3-year-old son of Tintagel-Parco won the Experimental Free Handicap at Jamaica this spring, the colt's first race over a mile.

Cornish Knight is a Virginia-bred horse, being foaled by the late R. A. Van Clief and Mrs. Van Clief at their Nydrie Stud near Charlottesville, Va. He was bought at the Meadowbrook, Long Island, yearling sales for a scant $2,600 in 1945.

Raced 14 Times

He raced 14 times as a 2-year-old last season, winning three races and finishing second and third on as many occasions. He eared $13,790. Cornish Knight picked up a pretty sizable sum in three stakes. He ran second to Donor in the Sanford at Saratoga, showed behind I Will and Solater in the U. S. Hotel Stakes at the Spa and was third behind Eternal War and the champion filly First Flight in the Juvenile at Belmont.

In his first two starts this season he scored in a 5½-furlong sprint during a Jamaica downpour and a week later he beat Secnav, Phalanx, Colonel O'F and Stepfather in the mile-and-a-sixteenth Experimental in the sparkling time of 1:44 4/5. His Experimental win was worth $14,600, more money than he won all last year.

Cornish Knight's daddy, Tintagel, was strictly a sprinter but his grand-daddy was Omar Khayyam, 1917 Derby winner. Omar Khayyam is the only imported horse to win the mile-and-a-quarter Run for the Roses and maybe Canada has something after all in the way of Derby horseflesh.

Cornish Knight is owned by Edward P. Taylor, Toronto industrialist, who is reported to be one of the richest men in the dominion.

SLOW MARKET STAYS IN RELATIVE BALANCE

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 26—A little covering and timid buying here and there by professionals kept the stock market pretty well steadied today although many leaders slipped and dealings were among the slowest of the year.

The ticker tape dozed from the start and generally small fractional variations either way left the direction somewhat vague near the close. Transfers dwindled to around 300,000 shares for the two hours.

Schenley was an active and fairly strong spot. Publicker and American Woolen also were favored.

In the plus column most of the time were U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Goodrich, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, American Telephone, North American, International Paper, Pacific Western Oil, Kennecott, Dow Chemical and Air Reduction.

Occasional stumblers included American Home Products, Procter and Gamble, Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Chesapeake and Ohio, Great Northern Railway, Goodyear, General Motors, Bethlehem, American Can, Deere, General Electric and Union Carbide.

HIGHWAY MEN CONSIDER GALION RAIL CROSSING

Study Proposed Overhead on Rt. 598 North of City.

Special to The Star

GALION, April 26—State highway department men were brought to Galion Friday by Terry Drake, Crawford county representative to the state legislature, to make a survey of the proposed overhead on state route 598 at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing, north of Galion. H. W. Mittendorf, maintenance engineer for Division Three, D. E. Starkey, engineer, location and design of Division Three, J. A. Atkinson, engineer, construction, Division Three, and H. G. McMichael, superintendent of highways in Crawford county, represented the highway department.

The engineers and Mr. Drake studied traffic and made other surveys at the crossing. They were accompanied by about 25 interested citizens of Galion and vicinity who are interested in an overhead crossing. The road is the shortest route between Columbus and Lake Erie.

SPECIAL CAR TO BALL GAME

A special coach on the New York Central railroad Sunday morning will be added to accommodate a party made up of the Hub Bar and Grill owners, employes and their families for a trip to Cleveland for the Cleveland-Detroit baseball game tomorrow afternoon. The train is scheduled to leave here at 9:30 a. m. For the return trip the coach will be attached to a regular train leaving Cleveland at 6:10 p. m.

LOVE'S PERILOUS PATH

By ADELE GARRISON

KATHARINE'S face and eyes were suddenly illumined with happy relief at any statement that Dicky and I were going to take over the care of Mary for the night.

Then I saw a shadow creep into her eyes, and knew that her rigid sense of duty had appeared to plague her.

"That is nonsense," she said. "I have accepted this case, and I must stay on it. What would Dr. Twitchell think?"

I took her by the shoulders and shook her soundly.

"I don't take slurs on my nursing ability from anybody, not even you," I told her, but could not help a grin as I talked. "I'll have you know I have a certificate from a First Aid class."

"And Katie has one from a 'detecatuff correspondence school,'" she said with an answering grin, and I know that half, at least, of my battle was won, as she shared my laugh at the thought of Katie, my housekeeper for years, tried and true, efficient, tempestuous, sometimes extremely trying, but always laugh-provoking. Katie's firm belief that she is a born detective has enlivened many otherwise dull moments at the Sag Harbor, Long Island, farmhouse, which belongs to my father but which has been our family home for many years.

"To continue," I went on firmly, "Dr. Twitchell knows that you and I are to share watches, although, of course, you are in charge of the case. And you also know that it is better that you have the day watch, as Dr. Twitchell plans to put Mary to sleep every night with sedatives until this crisis is past.

"He also said tonight, that anyone of the family could share the night watch, so that the person on at night could get some sleep.

"So therefore, notwithstanding, also Q.E.D.," I finished, "you will please appear tomorrow morning, and after Mary has had a chance to understand you are back, I shall leave her to you. But tonight, as I said before, you are to go to your own apartment and stay there until after Jack leaves in the morning."

I saw capitulation in her eyes, and the next instant she had her arms around me.

"You blessed girl!" she said huskily. "And I do thank you for planning to let me have this time with Jack."

"I want a reward," I told her. "I want you to let me tell a little tarra-diddle about our conversation, and not contradict it."

"For the love of Mike and his half-sister!" she apostrophized, plainly mystified. "Why the Capphira act?"

Dubious Tone

"I told Jack of the ultimatum I was going to give you," I said, "and just now he asked me to tell him what you said. And, Katharine, his tone was dubious, as if he feared that your sense of duty—sometimes exaggerated, my dear—would triumph over your wish to be with him in these last few hours before he leaves.

"I said that you wouldn't have a chance to say anything," I went on, "but I'd like to tell him that you didn't make a single demur; that you jumped at the chance."

"He'll suspect you're lying," she said serenely, "but if you think you can make it stick, go ahead. I'll promise to play along. But aren't men children?"

"Of course," I told her. "That's why we love em. Well, I'm going back to my knitting."

"So am I," she said, and we walked from the bathroom into the bedroom where Mary lay. I went on from there into the sitting room, and sat down again beside Jack.

"What luck?" he murmured, and there was anxiety in his voice.

"The best," I answered, and felt a little glow inside me at the joy in the eyes of my brother-cousin.

"She snapped at the bait," I said, embroidering the fact. "Not a single demur. But she'll have to stay until this session breaks up and I get Faith settled for the night."

"That, of course," he said. "And you know, don't you, how grateful I am?"

"I'll make you pay and pay," I told him flippantly, as the door-knocker sounded.

"Philip or Faith?" my father queried, as Dicky went to the door.
